U.S. Resumes Air Attacks; LBJ Makes New Peace Bid

Goldberg Will Seek U.N. Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson made a new Vietnamese peace bid to the United Nations today a few hours after American bombers resumed bombing.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States asked the U.N. Security Council today to meet urgently on the Viet Nam conflict and to use its "immense prestige to finding a prompt solution to it."

Members of the 15-nation council quickly began consultations on the time of the meeting. The United States indicated it was ready to meet this afternoon, if the other members agreed.

Backstage Peace Offensive

Details of Decision

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Months of pondering how to bring peace to Viet Nam. Secret sessions with top U.S. strategists. Day-to-day decisions on withholding bombing. A flood of U.S. presidential envoys abroad. A Communist rebuff. A big debate at home.

These are major ingredients of the 37-day peace offensive which came to a shattering end today with President Johnson's order resuming the air strikes on North Viet Nam.

Here is a detailed look at what went on — backstage, sometimes in tight secrecy, as well as out in the open:

For the background, hark back to last spring.

Suspension in May

On April 7, 1965, Johnson set forth, in a speech at Johns Hopkins University, his offer of "unconditional discussions" for a peaceful settlement. His April 7 terms remain basically the U.S. position today: The United States wants nothing except independence and security for South Viet Nam, and "will do everything necessary to reach that objective." The Reds denounced his proposal as a cover-up for more U.S. "aggression."

In May he ordered a five-day halt in air strikes on North Viet Nam to test further the Communist response. Hanoi refused even to receive a U.S. diplomatic note conveyed through the British.

Through the summer and into the fall critics of Johnson's Viet Nam policy, including Red regiments outside of Hanoi and Pe-king, contended the May pause had not been long enough to give Hanoi a reasonable chance to respond. Washington asked what Hanoi would do if the bombing stopped, and got no answer. But administration strategists kept the possibility in mind.

On Nov. 11 the issue was raised in secrecy at a conference at the LBJ Ranch in Texas. Gathered with the President were Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and presidential assistants McGeorge Bundy and Jack Valenti.

The arguments for and against suspending the air attacks on the Communist North South Viet Nam, and "will do everything necessary to reach that objective." The Reds denounced his proposal as a cover-up for more U.S. "aggression."

Targets Far South of Industrial Areas Struck In New Attacks From Air

BY THOMAS A. REEDY

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The United States unleashed its bombers against North Viet Nam today after holding off air attacks for 37 days while vainly trying to bring the Communists to the peace table.

The first waves of U.S. Navy and Air Force planes hit bridges, ferries, barges, warehouse areas and storage facilities well south of the Hanoi-Haiphong industrial area. Later flights pummeled highways No. 1, a main artery along the coast, wrecking a truck convoy and destroying a bridge, a U.S. spokesman reported.

The later attacks were centered around Vinh, on North Viet Nam's central coast.

Ground Offensive

On the ground, U.S. and South Vietnamese forces stepped up their offensive against the Viet Cong, but the Communists inflicted heavy losses on a militia unit and Red guns hammered Allied positions.

A U.S. spokesman said Navy pilots claimed destruction of a bridge about 10 miles southeast of Dong Hoi and damage to the approach to the Quang Khe ferry landing about 20 miles northwest of Dong Hoi.

Bad weather prevented estimates of the damage in other raids. Spokesmen declined to say how many sorties were flown or what types of bombs were dropped.

One Navy plane was shot down as the raiders encountered heavy ground fire. But a U.S. Air Force helicopter rescued the pilot unharmed under machine-gun fire. He was Lt. Cmdr. Sylvester Chumley of Lemoore, Calif.

Fete for Carley Tops $50,000 For Campaign

MILWAUKEE — David Carley, host and honored guest at a $50-a-plate testimonial dinner here Sunday night, added more than $50,000 to the campaign war chest of his drive for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Missing from the event, attended by more than 800 party faithful, was the featured guest speaker of the evening, Minnesota's Democratic Sen. Eugene McCarthy, who was snow-bound in his Washington, D.C., home, as 16 inches of snow fell on the nation's capital.

McCarthy spoke to the gathering for a short time over a telephone hook-up, and was careful to avoid endorsing any of the announced and potential candidates for the nomination, calling only for the election of a liberal Democrat to the governor's chair.

The Wisconsin Democratic gubernatorial primary, still seven months away, has gained national attention due to overtones of a pitched battle between backers of Vice President Hubert Humphrey and New York Sen. Robert Kennedy.

Present at Sunday's dinner was Lt. Gov. Patrick J. Lucey, Carley's greatest rival for the gubernatorial nod. Lucey, an ardent Kennedy backer, grossed about $80,000 in a similar fund-raising dinner last fall. Featuring speaker that evening was Sen. Kennedy.

Before the dinner Carley told newsmen he expects the primary battle between now and September to be the most bitter in the state's history. A self-proclaimed underdog when he

Filibuster Resumed To Block 14B Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today went into its second week of the union shop battle with neither side ready to budge from its position.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said his only plan for now was to keep before the Senate his motion to bring up the bill which would repeal section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Act. That section authorizes states to outlaw union shop contracts.

Mansfield got an agreement for the Senate to convene two hours earlier than its usual noon meeting after a wrangle with the bill's opponents at a Saturday session. Because of the timing, Senate committees scheduled no hearings for the day.

Maintain Filibuster

Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said his forces would maintain their filibuster which has prevented a vote even on the preliminary motion to bring the bill before the Senate.

Dirksen said a break in the stalemate could come when the Armed Services Committee sends to the Senate floor an authorization bill in support of President Johnson's request for an additional $12.3 billion for the Vietnamese war.

At that point, he said he would demand to know whether repeal of section 14B took precedence over the needs of U.S. troops in Viet Nam.

Mansfield would say only that he would "face up to that decision" when the authorization bill is ready.

McNamara Report

The Senate Armed Services group is to hear Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara again Tuesday on the authorization measure. Committee aides said it could be approved and sent to the floor later in the week, although this is not certain.

Foes of the repeal bill estimated they had enough speakers lined up to keep the filibuster going for several weeks.

The President announced that he had directed Ambassador Arthur Goldberg to seek an immediate meeting of the U.N. Security Council in order to make a full report on the Vietnamese situation and to present a resolution for new action toward peace.

The resolution, the President said, "car open the way to the conference table."

No Letup for Wisconsin

East Coast, South Lashed by Severe Cold, Heavy Snow

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Lows Sunday ranged down to 25 below zero at Lone Rock, 23 below at La Crosse, and 19 below at Wausau. It was a mere 12 below in Green Bay.

The mercury climbed above zero in the afternoon for the first time in 80 hours for much of the state, but fell back at night.

Snow Forecast

By early today readings ranged down to five below at Wausau. Highs Sunday included 1 above in Eau Claire, 3 above at Milwaukee, and a comparatively warm 9 above at La Crosse.

Sunday night was the 17th night out of the last 18 that Wisconsin was hit by a blizzard.

The severe storm swept up along the coast over the weekend, leaving cold behind and virtually paralyzing travel in major arteries of the populous Northeast, including the nation's capital.

Two states struck the hardest, Delaware and Virginia, declared a state of emergency.

Two feet of snow fell in some parts of Virginia and National Guard units were ordered to help clear clogged highways in Delaware.

Wisconsin Weather

Wisconsin's siege of subzero weather broke briefly Sunday before the mercury plummeted again as the state stayed in the icy clutch of Arctic temperatures.

Weathermen predicted slight, only slight relief today.

The week-long forecast called for temperatures 6 to 12 degrees below normal readings for early February. This translated in peak temperatures ranging from 7 to 24 above and lows from 13 below to 8 above.

No pause was seen in the constant assault of freezing weather, but the predictions did represent some improvement.

A Chippewa Falls couple and a Michigan driver died as a result of a two-car collision Sunday on Highway 29 eight miles west of Chippewa Falls.

Killed outright were Francis Hurt, 41, Chippewa Falls, and Raymond Webber, 25, Buchanan. Hurt's wife, Iris, 41, died later in a Chippewa Falls hospital.

Authorities said they could give no explanation for the head-on accident.

Dr. Durovic Innocent of Drug Fraud

Krebiozen Inventor, Foundation Cleared After 9-Month Trial

CHICAGO (AP) — Dr. Stevan Durovic, discoverer of the controversial substance Krebiozen, and the Krebiozen Research Foundation, were acquitted on all counts today of fraud and conspiracy charges in promotion of the drug.

The three codefendants of Dr. Stevan Durovic were acquitted Saturday of conspiracy, mail fraud and other charges in connection with their work with the drug taken by some cancer patients.

While the jury was studying evidence relating to Dr. Durovic Sunday, one of the jurors, Mrs. Lois Clark, 40, suffered an attack of asthma. She was given medical treatment.

The jury was brought to the U.S. District Courtroom of Judge Julius J. Hoffman this morning.

If Mrs. Clark had been unable to carry on, a mistrial might have been called or the verdict could have been left to the remaining 11 jurors.

Excitement gripped the courtroom Saturday afternoon when Judge Hoffman called the jurors back to the seats from where they had heard nine months of testimony.

The jury foreman then handed forward a slip of paper that acquitted on all counts Dr. Stevan Durovic, Marko Durovic and Dr. William F. P. Phillips.

The jurors said they were still deliberating the 40 charges against Dr. Durovic, 60, and against the Krebiozen Research Foundation.

High Court To Review Hoffa Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed today to a limited review of James R. Hoffa's conviction in 1964 on jury-tampering charges.

In a brief order, the court said it would hear the Teamsters Union president's appeal on one question alone. That is: "Whether evidence obtained by the government by means of deceptively placing a secret informer in the quarters and councils of a defendant during one criminal trial so violates the defendant's Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Amendment rights that suppression of such evidence is required in a subsequent trial of the same defendant on a different charge."

the question intensively during another conference with key aides. At this ranch session were McNamara, just back from Saigon, Rusk, Undersecretary of State George W. Ball, Bundy and his deputy, Robert Komer, and presidential assistants Bill D. Moyers and Joseph A. Califano Jr.

Christmas Truce

One of the alternatives debated at the Dec. 7 session was a bombing pause early in 1966, perhaps coinciding with the customary lunar New Year cease-fire due around Jan. 21. The Communist Viet Cong had already proposed a Christmas truce.

Johnson made no decision at the time but outlined his general purpose in a speech he delivered by telephone two days later to the AFL-CIO convention in San Francisco. Voicing U.S. determination "to turn back that aggression" in Viet Nam, he added: "At the same time, we are equally determined that every prospect for peace be exhausted before other hard steps are taken."

After returning to Washington Dec. 13 for a series of meetings with important foreign visitors — the leaders of Pakistan, Britain and West Germany — Johnson held more secret sessions with his Viet Nam strategists. Out of these came a decision to propose a Christmas cease-fire.

The cease-fire order issued Dec. 22 included instructions not to resume on-the-ground fighting in South Viet Nam after Christmas unless the Communists fired first. This was quickly settled by Viet Cong attacks even before the 30-hour cease-fire period was over.

Ground Fire

The Dec. 22 order also halted bombing of North Viet Nam targets with the start of the cease-fire Dec. 24. But it did not specify when to resume the air strikes. On that, Johnson reserved judgment from day to day even after the ground combat flared up again.

In pondering his future course Johnson, back in Texas for the holidays, was influenced by domestic reaction to the lull and by appeals from world figures. He was impressed by a peace appeal from Pope Paul VI. At home Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana was also calling for a lull well beyond Christmas.

Christmas fell on Saturday. With the ground fighting flaring up again, Johnson held off a resumption of the bombing on Sunday Dec. 26 and again on Monday Dec. 27.

Monday night he held long-distance strategy talks by telephone with his top advisers and made up his mind to make the most of this opportunity: he would prolong the bombing pause for a while and put into motion a full-fledged, diplomatic offensive.

Presidential Envoys

On Tuesday Dec. 28 the telephone was ringing, again, and Johnson was on it to start a spectacular run of special presidential envoys to 40 capitals over the ensuing three weeks.

A call to roving Ambassador W. Averell Harriman put him on a special plane to Warsaw that night instead of the bridge of planning to ex...and the war.

In the face of the Communist crescendo, the Johnson administration for a while took the position that no meaningful response had yet been received from the other side.

On Jan. 12 the President reported on his peace drive in his State of the Union message: "So far we have received no response to prove either success or failure."

He also injected another ingredient into the U.S. proposal by saying, "We will respond if others reduce their use of force."

Further Messages

During the following week the State Department began sending to interested foreign governments messages recapitulating the peace efforts, surveying for any hopeful response from Hanoi and implying that the bombing would be resumed if none was forthcoming.

It was during this week that the ground fire operations in South Viet Nam halted for their second cease-fire, this for the Jan. 20-23 New Year holiday.

On Jan. 21 a negative report came from Rusk, who had just returned from a quick Asian trip, including a talk with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kossygin at Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri's funeral in India. Rusk said there had been no "encouraging" response, only "bitter invective" from Hanoi.

Rusk said the Communists appeared to be preparing for a bitter military effort after the New Year lull. During the supposed cease-fire, he reported two days later, the Reds continued their infiltration from the North and made many attacks.

Conflicting Views

While some foreign governments indicated they hoped for a lengthy bombing halt, conflicting views at home were pressing on the President.

On Jan. 22 senators made public testimony by Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, that "if you stop bombing North Viet Nam, in effect you throw one of your blue chips for negotiation over your shoulder."

On the same day Johnson replied to 76 Democratic House members who had asked him to persevere in his peace offensive. The President said that while the peace effort will continue "the heavy weight of evidence which has accumulated in the last month" indicates continued "aggressiveness" by North Viet Nam.

"It is increasingly clear that we have had only a hostile response to the present pause in bombing," he said.

Johnson summoned congressional leaders to the White House late in the afternoon of Jan. 25. At this secret mission, attended by the government's diplomatic, military and intelligence chiefs, the key legislators were given intelligence reports of a North Vietnamese buildup and infiltration during the bombing lull.

Intelligence Reports

Johnson spoke to the legislators of the agony and loneliness of presidential decision making. He read passages from Bruce Catton's book, "Never Call Retreat," on how President Abraham Lincoln faced divided counsel. He said he would listen to everyone but decide what he felt best. He asked one administration official to make a case for resuming the bombing, another to make the case against.

Congressional Stand

Of the 20 senior senators and House members present only two, Mansfield and Senate Foreign Relations Committee Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., were on the record for continuing the pause. An Associated Press poll of the Senate's 100 members found that of 50 willing to say, 25 senators favored renewing the bombings at this point and 25 were against. Johnson continued to meet frequently with his top strategists. He sought counsel from friends and prominent citizens outside of government. The debate rolled on.

On Jan. 27, 16 Democratic senators sent the President a letter supporting earlier calls by Mansfield, Fulbright and Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., for a continuation of the bombing pause.

The senators pleaded for fur areas. Portions of key state highways were shut down and new inches of snow with four hundreds of motorists were stranded.

The storm dumped 12 inches still on the ground from a storm a week ago.

In one of the worst traffic accidents, 40 persons were injured Sunday night in a series of chain-reaction collisions on New York's Thruway between Rochester and Buffalo.

Frigid temperatures and gale-force winds, rather than the snow, created the most misery in many states.

Big Waves

Fifteen-to 20-foot waves were reported in Narragansett Bay in Rhode Island, flooding low-lying coastal areas. Winds up to 60 miles an hour buffeted some parts of the New Jersey shore.

In Pittsburgh, officials at one church had to pour gasoline on the ground and light it to melt ice and snow so a handful of earth could be chipped away for a ground-breaking ceremony.

The cold blast dipped into the Deep South, as temperatures skidded to subzero levels in parts of Georgia. In Atlanta, a reading of three below zero was recorded, a low for the date.

The community of Russellville in north Alabama reported an all-time low of 24 degrees below zero.

Florida officials described the cold wave as their worst in 30 years and expressed fears that the state's citrus crop might be damaged. Growers on the northern fringe of the citrus belt set out smudge pots. Other crops, such as potatoes and cabbage, were damaged by below-freezing readings in many parts of the state.

Watts Situation Would Be About $22 Million

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Cost of implementing the McCone commission recommendations to alleviate conditions that sparked last August's Watts riots is estimated at $22 million by city officials.

Mayor Samuel W. Yorty says City Administrator Erwin Piper estimated most of the amount could be footed with federal funds for the war on poverty. He said, however, city taxpayers might have to spend $14 million yearly if the recommendations are followed.

The two most expensive suggestions, Yorty said Saturday, were the hiring of 2,000 jobless persons after individual training, and hiring another 1,500 persons without training.

formally announced his candidacy in November, Carley acknowledged Sunday night that he still feels he might not win the battle with Lucey.

A third and complicating element in the Democratic race is Dominic Frinzi, Milwaukee defense lawyer, who did not attend last night's affair. He was present at a smaller fundraising dinner of his own in the Milwaukee area last night.

Primary source of the campaign funds raised was the sale of more than 900 tickets to Carley backers and the subscription of state business, labor, and political leaders to more than 16 pages of advertising in a dinner booklet which raised more than $19,000, according to Mary Lou Berg, dinner chairman.

Some contributors were willing to pay the price of an advertisement in the booklet but unwilling to let their names appear inside the covers, to avoid taking sides in the heated campaign fray at this early date, it was explained.

Carley told newsmen that he expects that the winner of the Democratic primary will find a Republican Gov. Warren P. Knowles a tough but not unbeatable foe in the general election.

Wisconsin needs more than a ribbon cutter and a poser for news cameras, Carley said in issuing a scathing blast at the incumbent governor. The Democratic candidate, no matter who the winner, can present to the public a dynamic program of active leadership which will return Wisconsin to its former position of leadership among the states, Carley said.

Governors do not win election, Carley reminded the press. Rather, incumbent governors lose re-election, he said. He attributed the loss of former Gov. John Reynolds to Knowles as due to Reynolds' antagonizing elements of the state's population in insisting on a reapportionment of the legislative districts during his sole term in office.

Knowles, Carley said, has avoided taking controversial stands on any of the major state issues of the day, seeking to avoid losing votes in his gubernatorial drive.

But, Carley warned, Knowles is a consummate politician with 20-years experience in elective office and will present the Democratic candidate with a tough task in attempting to defeat the governor.

At the press conference Carley rejected proposed state bonding for highway projects while calling for an excellence of the present road-building program. Needed is some type of a pay-as-you-go system of financing, he said.

Carley, Democratic national committeeman, is at 37 years of age making his second bid for statewide office. He lost a race for the lieutenant governorship to Republican Jack Olson in 1962 by less than one half of one per cent of the votes cast. Lucey, now 47, defeated Olson's re-election attempt in 1964.

Master of ceremonies for the evening was J. Louis Hanson, state party chairman, who has been criticized by some Democrats for accepting the offer to fulfill that role at the dinner. Hanson did not do the same for Lucey, but has explained that he was honeymooning in Denmark at the time of the lieutenant governor's dinner.

Also present was Atty. Gen. and Mrs. Bronson LaFollette and Assembly Speaker Robert Huber. Hanson and LaFollette made no endorsements of Carley at the dinner. Missing were many legislative Democrats. Fewer than a dozen

Operation Masher

On the ground, the Viet Cong backed by regulars of the North Vietnamese forces were goaded into action by Allied troops who have penetrated Communist hideouts in the central coastal plains which had not been disturbed for 15 years.

Operation Masher, the U.S. 1st Cavalry's hedge-hopping push around Bong Son, about 300 miles northeast of Saigon, was heavily engaged for the fifth straight day in a firefight the Viet Cong used as a withdrawal action.

A storm of automatic fire and mortar shelling struck a battalion of troopers at 6 a.m. and lasted for an hour. A spokesman said the Viet Cong used the barrage as cover to slip out of what could have been a death trap.

282 Reds Dead

Most of them got away but the cavalry troops counted 282 Communist dead after four days of heavy fighting with main force Viet Cong and the 18th Regiment of the North Vietnamese 325th division. A spokesman said another 200 Reds may have been killed in air and artillery attacks.

Masher was joined by Vietnamese government airborne troops who in two days have killed 59 Viet Cong.

Toward the coast, 20 miles west of Tuy Hoa, South Korean marines squeezed the Viet Cong in another sensitive spot when they sent a column out on a new search and destroy mission. The insurgents reacted from three directions.

The marines hit them hard, split them up and claimed 188 killed by body count, 2 captured, and a store of weapons seized.

Air Attack

The whole 2nd Corps area was under the lash of Air Force attack and U.S. destroyers pounded Viet Cong concentration sectors.

Air control reported that the destroyer Bache apparently hit a fuel or ammunition dump. Seven secondary explosions were set off, huge clouds of black smoke were seen, and four Viet Cong bodies were visible. The target was still burning fiercely two hours after the shelling.

In heavy weekend fighting, military authorities said a large Red force wiped out a government militia unit and a relief force 55 miles south of the U.S. air base at Da Nang.

A small unit of U.S. Special Forces men with the militia suffered heavy casualties, authorities said. A second relief force that searched the area said all members of the two government units were killed, wounded or missing. There was no casualty estimate.

The 1st Cavalry last encountered the North Vietnamese 325th Division two months ago in the bloody battle of Ia Drang valley, about 110 miles west of Bong Son. The cavalry lost 270 men, killed and 600 wounded in that encounter but claimed an estimated 1,300 Communist dead.

"These advisers," the President said, "tell me that if continued immunity is given to all that supports North Vietnamese aggression, the cost in lives — Vietnamese, American and allied — will only be greatly increased."

Clear Duty

"In the light of the words and actions of the government in Hanoi, it is our clear duty to do what we can to limit these costs."

Nor has there been any support or understanding from Peking for U.S. efforts to open the road to peace, Johnson asserted.

He said the United States does not regret its 37-day pause in the bombing of North Viet Nam — a pause that ended today.

Johnson spoke on live radio and television from a theater in the White House less than 10 hours after the first word came through that the United States has begun bombing North Vietnamese targets.

Rusk Report

He said he had asked Secretary of State Dean Rusk to give this country and the world a comprehensive account of diplomatic efforts made over the last five weeks "in our continuing policy of peace and freedom for South Viet Nam."

The President, in his role as commander-in-chief of the armed forces, said that, at his direction, "U.S. aircraft have resumed action in North Viet Nam. They struck lines of supply which support the continuing movement of men and arms against the people and government of South Viet Nam."

Johnson said that from the start air strikes have been aimed at military targets and have been controlled carefully.

Butterflies Flit Into Fashions

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer

PARIS (AP) — Antonio Castillo's spring collection which opened today represented all kinds of women. His good little girls were very, very good, and his slightly naughty ones were nautical. Some of his ladies were cultural types, and some were social butterflies.

From the start, butterflies flitted in and out of this one-time New York designer's French collection as twinkling pins rested on the slightly wide shoulders of dresses and suits, perched on some of those saucerlike bowlers over hair pulled back into twists.

Flit to Parties

Giant red ones with diamond eyes were stitched into a white organza baby doll dress for big party-going dolls.

Epitomizing the success of a good social butterfly perhaps was the bride. Beautiful white butterflies buzzed around her head, spun around her mobile bouquet of lilies of the valley and swarmed over the lace train dragging behind her.

Castillo's "good - little - girl's" dresses were sleeveless, small bustled, long torsoed, and short. Sometimes their hems were above the knee cap, although an inch was the general rule.

Gob's caps without crowns of pitched jaunty forward on the heads of his slightly naughty little girls who hid bare midriffs and barebacks under fooler jackets with fly fronts.

Your Problems

Heredity Versus Use of Brain Prompts Father-Son Dispute

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A few days ago I brought home my report card. I got two B's and three C's. My father said a boy of my intelligence should do a lot better. I told him it was the best I could do and he shouldn't expect miracles because when the good Lord hands out brains some people are bound to get more than others.

My dad said everybody gets the same amount of brains but some people work harder than other people. The next day I asked my teacher about this and she said some people inherit better brains from their parents and that this is why they are smarter.

That night I told my dad that maybe the reason my grades weren't higher was because I didn't inherit very good brains. He said I had a big mouth and if I don't get a better report card next time I'm in trouble. Please give me the word on this brain stuff — No Genius.

Dear No Genius: It's not the amount of brains but how we use them that counts. Some people let their brains go to waste because they don't give them enough exercise.

Don't blame your dad for your bum report card. I'll bet with the very same brains you inherited you can bring those C's up to B's — if you spend more time on your homework. Try it and see.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You have printed letters in defense of dentists, hotel and motel maids, taxi drivers and ex-convicts. Please print my letter in defense of hat check girls.

The oldest gimmick of all is when there is a banquet or convention and a long line forms. Some cheapskate always shows up with five claim checks and says, "My friends hate to stand in line so I'm getting their coats." Then he'll toss the girl a quarter for five coats. Isn't it worth a quarter to a person not to have to carry his coat around all evening? Shouldn't he be willing to pay for the service?

The intellectuals are the worst. The science and medical conventions drive me crazy. Why is it that a man who can operate a computer or perform brain surgery can't hang on to his claim check?

One evening I had four doctors back of the counter hunting for their coats. One guy forgot what he wore. Another one finally remembered that he left his coat in the car.

Dear Ann, please print this letter and you can check your coat free with me for the rest of your life — Hat Check Hattie.

Dear Hattie: I can't cure the cheapskates but I can print your letter and hope they do something about themselves. Thanks for the offer. Doll, but it is worth a quarter not to carry a coat around all evening and I'll happily pay for the service.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our bridge club has a real Ann Landers type problem. The husband of one of the members retired last year. Whenever the club meets at her home (every eighth week) this woman's husband pulls up his chair and kibitzes the game. He always parks himself next to me. Yesterday he snatched a card out of my hand and shouted, "This one, not that one. Dummy." Don't you feel he went too far?

How can we tell the woman we don't want her husband around? We don't wish to hurt her because she is a dear person. Thank you — London (Ontario) Bridgers.

Dear Bridgers: Suggest to the dear person that when she has the game at her home she should invite three male players (there must be other retired men in town) so her husband can have his own game.

No teen-ager is as confident as he appears. Get clued in. Send for Ann Landers' booklet "Dating Do's and Don'ts" enclosing with your request 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope. (Copyright, 1966)

A Lovelier You

By Mary Sue Miller

Perfect 'Pinkky'

You've heard it said: She has more grace in her little finger left hand, thumb tucked under than most women have in their whole bodies. What a pinky that must be!

I really haven't seen its like very often. Most little fingers look self-conscious. They stick out like a semaphore when the hand holds a teacup, or curl like Bo-Peep's crook. Neither pose is graceful, for it's unnatural. Left to nature, the little finger snugs the fourth finger and takes a pretty curve.

The grace of the fingers and hands cannot be forced. They must be relaxed to behave attractively. You are aware of that when you watch the hands of a ballet dancer. Those hands never stiffen up, for they have learned the art of control through relaxation.

Well, if the professional hand can learn, so can the non-professional. The lesson is taught this way. 1. Sit in an armchair, erect but easy. Raise hand, overhead, let them fall to lap. Repeat several times, until fingers are relaxed. 2. Keeping fingers relaxed, bring right hand to rest palm down on left thigh.

will be said of you. She has more grace in her little finger.

Sheinwold Top Player Remembers Opponents

The man who thinks well of his fellow creatures is admirable, but I don't want him as my bridge partner. Give me the partner who thinks all of the opponents and gives them every chance to live up to his estimate of them.

When this hand was played South was a believer in minding his own business. He won the first heart trick, drew two rounds of trumps with the ace and king, and then went after the diamonds.

South hoped that the jack of diamonds would drop or that each opponent would hold three diamonds for then he would be able to get rid of a club on dummy's fourth diamond.

As it happened, the diamonds did not break favorably. South had to give up a spade and a club. Down one.

No Hurry
There's no way of being sure, but South would probably make the slam if he remembered that the opponents were human beings. There was no need to hurry the play of the diamonds.

South should lead on his top trumps, cash the other top heart and then give West his trump trick at once—before touching the diamonds.

West cannot tell whether to return a club or a diamond. The club return would be fatal if South held K-J or K-10; the diamond return, if South held Q-10. This makes it appear that the club lead is twice as dangerous as the diamond lead.

If West happens to return a club, South has lost nothing. He can still try out the diamonds, and in the meantime he has given West the chance to make the wrong guess.

Daily Question
As dealer, you hold: S A K J 8 7. H A J. D Q 10 4. C K 8 3. H. Woehler will be:

ANSWER: Bid one spade. The hand is a trifle too strong for an opening bid of one notrump since you have not only the maximum count of 18 points but also a strong five-card suit. (Copyright, 1966)

Fanciful Approach

Remember that wild rice takes a much longer cooking period than ordinary white rice.

If you want to prepare an antithickened tomato sauce, simmer mixture in refrigerator in mer canned tomatoes (juice set spread with sour cream included) along with seasonings. Then spoon rest of gelatin on until you have the consistency you wish. Cut in squares. Serves 12 to 15

Each club member donates a salad for the buffet table.

The contribution of Mrs. Walter Gross will be:

Tuna Fish Salad

- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
- 1 1/2 cups water
- 1 cup mayonnaise
- 1/2 cup celery, chopped
- 3 hard cooked eggs, chopped
- 2 tablespoons pimento, chopped
- 1 six or seven ounce can tuna, drained
- 1 nine oz. can crushed pineapple, drained

Dissolve gelatin in one-fourth cup cold water. Add one and one-fourth cups of hot water. Let cool to sirup consistency. Stir in mayonnaise. Add all other ingredients. Pour in mold. Chill several hours.

From the kitchen of Mrs. Wilbert Spanagel comes:

Sauerkraut-Gelatin

- two or three oz. package mixed vegetable flavored gelatin
- 1 tablespoon vinegar
- 2 cups boiling water
- 12 to 15 ice cubes
- six to seven green onions, tops and onion sliced
- pimento and green pepper
- 1 lb. can sauerkraut, cut with shears, plus juice

Combine gelatin, water, vinegar and ice cubes. Stir until gelatin thickens. Remove unmelted cubes. Add other ingredients. Chill at least four hours in medium size mold. Dressing is made by combining one teaspoon horseradish and one cup mayonnaise.

Mrs. Charles Reicher will bring:

Black Cherry Salad

- 3 1/2 cups canned Bing cherries, pitted
- 1/4 cup lemon juice
- 1 three oz. size orange flavored gelatin
- 3/4 cups chopped pecans
- 1 three oz. bottle stuffed pimento olives, sliced

Drain cherry juice, add lemon juice and enough water to make 1 1/2 cups liquid. Heat to boiling. Pour over gelatin. Stir until completely dissolved. Chill until partially set. Then add cherries, nuts and olives. Pour into mold. Serves six to eight.

Preparing to add this salad for the buffet is Mrs. John Stahl.

Cinnamon Salad

- 1 package strawberry gelatin, 3 oz. size
- 1/2 cup red cinnamon dot candies
- 1 cup hot water
- 1 cup cold water
- 1 cup celery, diced
- 1 cup apples, diced and peeled
- 1/4 cup chopped nuts

Dissolve gelatin and candy in hot water, add cold water. Partially set it. Then add remaining ingredients. Chill.

Topping

- 1/2 pint whipped cream
- 10 soft marshmallows, cut in quarters
- 1 three oz. package cream cheese

Mix and whip ingredients, spread on top of chilled gelatin. Refrigerate until ready to serve.

The contribution from Mrs. V. E. Woehler will be:

Party Fruit Salad

- 2 packages red cherry gelatin
- 2 cups boiling water
- 1 16 oz. package frozen sliced strawberries
- 1 No. two can crushed pineapple with juice
- 1/2 pint dairy sour cream

Dissolve gelatin in water, add strawberries, pineapple and juice immediately. Place half the mixture in an 8 by 12 inch pan. Chill. Set other half aside.

Unthickened tomato sauce, simmer mixture in refrigerator in mer canned tomatoes (juice set spread with sour cream included) along with seasonings. Then spoon rest of gelatin on until you have the consistency you wish. Cut in squares. Serves 12 to 15

The Ailing House Cement Will Tide Over Flashings

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: During a spell of reasonable weather, I went over my roof to look for a leak and found it. The trouble is in the flashing between two gables, the roofing metal has rusted through in quite a few places. I can't afford much for repairs at this time, certainly not enough for replacing the flashing. Is there any first aid which will tide the flashings over until more favorable economic weather?

A: Get some plastic or asphalt roofing cement, and next time the weather permits, spread this generously over all leaky areas. Try not to get any on the roof itself, or let any dribble down on white siding below. This black stuff is nearly impossible to remove. To make the cement spread more easily, warm it thoroughly indoors. However, do not heat it over an open flame. Let the container stand in the bathtub in very hot water, for example.

Q: In spite of my best efforts to make two wicker chairs and a table look neat and smart, my problem seems hopeless. Principally this is because I actually cannot get the dust out from the deeper cracks and crevices, although I have used the vacuum cleaner countless times. Can you help me?

A: Don't bother with the embedded dust. Give the wicker a good spraying with clear plastic (if you wish to keep the natural color) or any color enamel you like. Let the spray cover the stubborn dust. If any of the finish works loose because of the dust, simply spray on another coat. This is known as the easy way—but it's also the most effective, in spite of what is said.

Q: In defense of our nice flower beds I finally had to put up a wire fence along the boundary when the new family moved in next door. Complete cardboard behind the area being with an inquisitive digging-type dog. Now that this wire barrier is up and apparently a success, the slowest.

Mrs. Spooner to Head Auxiliary

Almost $15,000 was presented at-large. Miss Lynda Hollenbeck, junior past president, will serve on the board.

New Unit Satisfies Player Piano Fans

If your husband has had a secret yearning for a nice old-time player piano and you keep telling him it would be a silly extravagance and the baby grand already takes up too much space in the living room—this might be the answer.

A portable player piano that sits right on the keys of an ordinary piano is now on the market. The unit, which weighs only 35 pounds, can be set in position and start playing in 30 seconds. The electrically powered music, music-maker works on the same principle as the roll piano does, but its insides have a modern touch. About one-third of the 1,800 player parts are made of plastic.

Do I use a brush, roller or spray?

A: You'll probably find a roller, with long fiber cover, the quickest and easiest. The long fibers will tend to wrap themselves around the wire as you go along, so you'll really only have to roll along one side.

Spraying is quick too, except that you (or assistant) will have to hold a large piece of cardboard behind the area being sprayed, to keep the spray from dog. Now that this wire barrier is up and apparently a success, the slowest.

Italian Men Great for Ego, Says Mrs. America of 1966

By JEAN HELLER

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. America of 1966 has returned to the United States from a three-week tour of Europe, 10 pounds lighter, considerably exhausted and with a profound respect for European men — especially Italians.

Italian men — or men anywhere for that matter — couldn't have helped but like Alice Buehner, a 5-foot-6-inch chestnut-haired 34-year-old beauty from Salt Lake City. On her arrival here Friday, she had this to say:

"I really became quite fond of Italian men. It's that look in their eyes, and the way they treat women — really making them like women — you know, kissing your hand and all."

"But Italian women tell me American men make better husbands, and I think that's probably true."

Visited Six Cities

Mrs. Buehner, who visited six European cities — Rome, Milan, Paris, Munich, Amsterdam and London — on behalf of the 1966 campaign to get Europeans to travel in the United States, said she found European men and women, on the whole, not much different from Americans.

"We were looking for differences when we started the trip, but actually, the only thing I found was that European housewives don't have all the conveniences of Americans," Mrs. Buehner said.

Mrs. Buehner, who lost about 10 pounds "just because I didn't have time to eat," was necessarily happy about the loss. She usually keeps fit jumping on a trampoline behind her home, swimming, water and snow skiing, painting, singing, staying active in politics and in her church.

Tested as Homemaker

She was chosen Mrs. America last year on the basis of her skills as a homemaker, which range from grocery shopping to luggage packing.

She also sews her clothes and clothes for her daughter.

"I don't try it for my husband (Don) or the five boys," Mrs. Buehner said. "I let them buy their things."

Don't Wear Pants

Mrs. America, whose reign ends on Mother's Day, said the most difficult problem she encountered in Europe was that of trying to dispel the idea that Americans live in a matriarchal society.

"For some reason," she said, "everyone asked me about American women wearing the pants in their families. I tried to tell them they were wrong, but I don't know if it did any good."

"Don's been taking care of the children," Mrs. Buehner said. "But he can't complain. I got into this when he suggested I enter the Mrs. Utah contest. And when I got Mrs. America he said he knew all the time that I was the best."

Appleton Man Issued 1st Medicare ID Card

The first health insurance identification card issued by the Appleton office of the Department of Health, Education and Administration has begun mailing. The card entitles Semmelhack to both hospital expense and major medical coverage as provided by Medicare.

Semmelhack's situation is unique because he is a former railroad telegrapher with many years experience and became entitled to benefits under the Railroad Retirement Act. He also was employed on jobs covered by the Social Security Act. This is the equivalent of carrying two insurance policies and thus he is entitled to retirement benefits under both programs. His Medicare benefits however will be processed only by the Social Security Administration.

Aldermanic Candidate Won't Broadcast News Until After Election

Walter Kalata, candidate for Appleton's Second Ward aldermanic post, will discontinue appearing on news and editorial broadcasts on WAPL AM and FM until after spring elections.

John J. Dixon, owner and general manager of the radio stations announced today. Kalata, known professionally as Bill Day, is news and program director of WAPL. The decision is in accordance with recommendations of the Federal Communication Commission and was made by the radio station in advance of questions relating to broadcast personnel in politics.

The pre-arranged music, carefully selected and well performed, will sell itself to both the audience and the instrumentalists who have experienced satisfying performance.

Petitioners Appeal Commission Action On Area Rezoning

Group to Hold Second Hearing On Newberry Street Changes

Eighty-six southeast side residents today rapped the recommended rezoning of E Newberry Street, prompting the city commission to reconsider its action.

At its previous meeting the commission had recommended the rezoning of the north side of Newberry Street from residential to commercial-light industry, going against the advice of local, regional and national planners.

After getting the commission's recommendation, the city council set Feb. 16 as the date for a final public hearing before making the rezoning official.

However, the commission decided today in view of the strong citizen sentiment expressed against the rezoning to hold the hearing in abeyance.

Another Public Hearing

The plan commission intends to conduct another public hearing of its own and will then submit a recommendation to the council.

Atty. Dennis Herring appeared before the commission at city hall on behalf of the petitioners who reside on Newberry Street and in the Colony Oaks and Crestview Subdivisions.

Herring said while some signers were not actually residents on Newberry they did own a sizeable amount of undeveloped property which they desired to preserve for residential purposes. Herring said Appleton should have an orderly entrance to the city rather than a hodge-podge of various types of zoning.

Fighting Alone

"I know this commission has always been against spot zoning but it apparently has seen fit to give up fighting the battle alone," Herring commented. He was referring to the fact that in recent years the council has overridden commission recommendations denying rezoning on Newberry Street.

Herring said he drove on Newberry Street Sunday to Kimberly and noted that "there is a fine residential area as one nears the village limits." He described it as a well planned residential area and urged the City of Appleton to follow the good example.

"Many people purchased property on Newberry and in adjoining areas because this area was zoned for residential purposes," Herring said. "These people were led to believe it would remain that way by recommendation of planners and the comprehensive plan prepared by a St. Louis consulting firm."

Express Amazement

Planning commissioners said they were amazed to hear of strong opposition to the rezoning.

Workers attempted to break up the ice with pike poles but later this morning two cranes were moved in to batter the ice.

Elementary School Site Approved by Commission

Northwest Side 10-Acre Tract Given Okay for New Facility

Construction of a new elementary school on Appleton's far northwest side drew a step closer to reality today.

The site for the proposed school — bounded by Glendale Avenue, Marquette, Elinor and Nicholas streets — was approved by the city plan commission. It took the action after receiving a letter from the board of education that it wanted to hire an architect and proceed with preparation of plans.

Mavor Clarence Mitchell explained that commission approval of the site, a 10-acre tract owned by the city, would place machinery in motion to put the new school on the drawing boards. Mitchell said it would be up to the board of public works to tell the school board when to hire an architect. The matter will be on the board's agenda Tuesday afternoon.

Ald. Arthur E. Mueller (19th), in whose ward the new school will be located, said he hoped the school board would be given authority to "proceed right away with the plans."

To Select Architect Mitchell said the board of education and the council's school advisory committee would select an architect for the project.

There have been estimates of the new school which the school board says will have an orthopedic wing, will cost from $15 to $2 million.

The commission also withheld action for 30 days on the request of Herbert Stieger to rezone property on the south side of Newberry Street from single family residential to multiple family.

Scheduled more workshop meetings to review the new proposed zoning ordinance.

Received word the final report on the city's comprehensive plan will be given by the St. Louis consulting firm here Wednesday night following the regular council meeting.

Klein Supports Inclusion Of Counties in Plan Unit

Menasha Mayor Critical of Bubolz Opposition to Joining Planners

MENASHA — Mayor John Klein took issue today with Gordon Bubolz's opposition to inclusion of Winnebago and Outagamie Counties into the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission.

In a letter last week, Bubolz, chairman of the Wolf River Basin Planning Commission, charged that including the two counties would carve them out of the eight-county Wolf planning unit. He said it would be a miscarriage of planning to include the counties.

The reason the time is appropriate for adding the county units of government, Klein said, is because of the concentration on bridge and highway construction projects which involve the counties as well as area municipalities.

The main highway project for which county cooperation and funds will be necessary, Klein added, is the completion of the Tri-County Expressway, planned to ring and cross-connect the Fox Cities.

Klein said the areas encompassed by the two planning commissions are interdependent because the Wolf River area has recreation facilities and potential while the Fox Valley area has the population to use the recreational facilities.

The mayor made no comment on the charges and rebuttals by Bubolz and Eugene Franchette to bring in all three counties in the area, Winnebago, Outagamie and Calumet. He said this was discussed but postponed even before the start of the Wolf commission in 1961.

"We aren't trying to take anything away from the Wolf River commission," Klein said. "There is no reason why the two counties could not be members."

Take Nothing Away

Klein said it has always been the intention of the Fox Valley Commission (FVRPC) to bring in all three counties in the area, Winnebago, Outagamie and Calumet. He said this was discussed but postponed even before the start of the Wolf commission in 1961.

"We aren't trying to take anything away from the Wolf River commission," Klein said. "There is no reason why the two counties could not be members."

T-C Rod, Gun Club Plans Bridge on Lake Winnebago

NEENAH — Members of the Twin City Rod and Gun Club will construct a bridge on Lake Winnebago across the crack in the ice off E. Wisconsin Avenue Wednesday morning, Dick Koerner, president, announced today.

Koerner added that he is looking for volunteers to help with the bridge, which will be placed off Kimberly Point. He asked them to report at the foot of E. Wisconsin Avenue at 8 a.m.

The club president also declared that roads would be plowed on the ice Wednesday or Thursday for sure. They will be cleared at E. Wisconsin Avenue and off Payne's Point to enable the fishermen to get their shanties out on the ice.

Roads also will be plowed at the close of the season, Koerner said. It is uncertain if any plowing will be done during the season.

The Wydeven car was east-bound on Newberry Street, near Weimer Street, when it collided with the Gerrits car which police said was traveling on the wrong side of the street.

Neenah to Seek Bridge Priorities

NEENAH — A request for advisable to construct an over-area bridge priorities and federal aid for city street of U.S. 41. Consideration also will be given to relocating State city officials to the state highway department Feb. 7.

Wayne Bryan, public works director and sub committee chairman for the Regional Planning Commission, will ask the state to establish a priority list for bridge construction from Oshkosh to Green Bay.

Bryan said a priority list will give the planning commission an opportunity to establish a program to best fit the state's plans and afford an opportunity to make recommendations.

What to Shoot For

"Without knowing the state's program," Bryan said, "we cannot know what to shoot for." The Regional Planning Commission, along with the Twin Cities, has advocated a bridge across Little Lake Butte des Morts. At the present time the only way into Menasha is through Neenah or Appleton. The bridge would tie into a proposed free way that will ring the Fox Cities.

All traffic into Menasha must cross the Washington and Racine Street bridge from Neenah or the Ninth and Oneida Street bridge in Appleton. The lake bridge would make it possible to by-pass both municipalities.

Requests will be submitted for aid on construction of an overpass at Cecil Street and U.S. 41, a grade separation on Cecil and the Soo Line tracks and resurfacing or reconstruction of Main Street.

With the city's development west of U.S. 41, it is deemed called for cancellation of perhaps the most interesting number listed. One's mind kept pondering how one man can undertake such a massive work load as Francis Scholtz has, considering his activities at the grade school level and as a church music director in addition to his high school work. The quality of his efforts cannot be accounted for by just the number of hours he officially works.

Fine Style
The concert band played with fine style and, with the exception of a rather edgy first trumpet, with excellent balance and tone. The Xavier Singers, exhibiting smooth ensemble and tone production, sang well considering the treacherous difficulties of some of the lower parts. The Prep Band showed Scholtz's strength, the production of controlled tone, correct intonation, yet rendered with a spirited performance.

A recent development in secondary schools throughout the country is the stage band, a practice that may keep the "big band" sound of the 30's and 40's alive until the current popular music trend has run its course and once again individual instrumental competence will be respected at the juke box level. The Xavier Stage Band received what was perhaps the warmest reception of any of the school groups.

Grace Leimer soloed in the finale of one of the Mozart horn concertos and did so with a style and poise that suggested the professional.

The select wind ensemble confirmed their right to hold the National Catholic Music Educators' Association national award for being the top parochial high school band in the country.

the Chicago Brass Quintet proved to be an engaging group here. "They of young men determined to carry on the fine tradition of brass playing that has been the Chicago area's happy lot. The high point was a quintet that their trombonist, James Mattern, a Menasha native, had composed while a student at this proposed rezoning does not go through," Herring said.

Many Homes
He reminded, however, that residents and property owners had much to lose because the area has long been zoned residential. "Many people have invested a considerable amount of money in homes, and others are contemplating building homes in this area," Herring added.

"All of these people have a substantial investment and want to maintain it," Herring declared, as he asked the commission to reconsider its rezoning recommendation.

Ald. Glenn Thompson (13th) wanted to know where the petition-signers were when the commission held its public hearing. "This proposed rezoning has been before the commission several times and received considerable publicity," he said.

"They may not have been aware of what was happening then but they are now," Herring replied. "These people realize they should have been here for the hearing but it is not too late and they are reacting now."

recommendation which can still be overturned. They recalled that several public hearings were conducted but no objection was forthcoming.

Herring said he realized many persons who now object to the rezoning did not attend the commission hearing, but he emphasized it was not too late for them to express themselves before the council conducted a hearing.

"These people want to have a chance to voice their objection to what is being advocated here," Herring said. "They have that right and are exercising it."

Herring noted the rezoning procedure was at the halfway mark but said it was not too high point was a quintet that their trombonist, James Mat-

Mayor Clarence Mitchell set the stage for the reconsideration.

"A year ago we had requests for rezoning and recommended they be denied but the council overrode the commission," Mitchell said. "Since then there have been other rezoning requests and a rest home venture was also undertaken in that area."

Mitchell said his remarks at the last commission meeting concerning rezoning of the north side of Newberry Street from Schaefer's Dairy to the village limits were misinterpreted.

"I am making the motion to have this commission reconsider its action so all property owners can have a chance to be heard," Mitchell declared. The reconsideration was unanimous.

Steiger in 6th District Race

in the November election by John Race, (D-Fond du Lac). During the next two months until the March 29 district caucus at West Bend, Steiger plans to appear at each of the seven county caucuses in the district.

These are the Fond du Lac county caucus Feb. 8, Calumet County, Feb. 16, Winnebago County, Feb. 22, Green Lake County, Feb. 24, Ozaukee County, Feb. 28, Washington County, March 3, and Sheboygan County, March 10.

"I will put my views on record at every opportunity," Steiger said this morning in opening his campaign "to return representation in congress to all of the people in this district."

Support of Party
"I think any Republican candidate should seek first the support of his party, and I would be proud to carry the endorsement of the working Republicans of this district; the people who must be depended upon to get out the vote and to win support for any political candidate."

Need Full Story

Commenting on national and international issues, Steiger said "the times are too perilous for anything less than a full disclosure of what we're up against in Southeast Asia. We are willing to make any sacrifice to defend our country if we are given the facts. But we do need to be told the full story."

He added that "consumers are entitled to know why the prices paid for food and clothing are the highest in history and farmers are to know why they continue to receive less than their fair share for what they sell and pay higher prices for what they buy."

He warned that "the pursuit of excellence requires not only an informed people, it requires a well educated people. There is no more important issue confronting our nation than the attainment of quality education for every child and young person in America."

Steiger has served on 10 committees in his six years in the State Legislature, including the chairmanship in 1963 of the elections committee of the Assembly and also of the interim election laws study committee of the Legislative Council. He is on the public welfare and elections committee of the 1965 Legislature and secretary on the interim election laws study committee.

Received Awards

A native of Oshkosh, Steiger was graduated in 1960 from the University of Wisconsin where he majored in economics. He is married to the former Janet Dempsey of Oshkosh. He received the National Young American medal for service from President Dwight D. Eisenhower for his activities in 1955, which included two years as president of the Oshkosh Youth Council, Badger Boys State governor, and state chairman of the Teens Against Polio in which he organized young people all over Wisconsin to take part in the fund-raising March of Dimes drive.

He served as national college chairman for the Young Republicans from 1959 to 1961 and also was vice president of the Wisconsin Student Association while at the university. In 1964 he was named one of the state's most outstanding young men. He also served as state chairman for the YMCA's "Youth in Government" two-day mock legislature held in each of the north central area states. He was co-chairman of the Bethel Home fund raising drive in Oshkosh and is a member of the board of directors of Bethel Home.

MADISON (AP)—An aroused Wisconsin basketball team, caged Michigan's powerful rebounding and kept the Wolverines offense at bay with a tight defense before bowing 69-67 Saturday.

Michigan unbeaten leader of the Big Ten and defending champion, pulled the game out on three baskets by Oliver Darden in the closing minutes.

It was the fifth straight conference victory for Michigan, the third loss in four Big Ten games for Wisconsin, and a battle that left both coaches heaping praise on their opponents.

"I can't give too much credit to Wisconsin," said Michigan's Dave Strack. "They attacked us where we pride ourselves, on the offensive backboard."

Wisconsin controlled the boards 55-43 against one of the best rebounding teams in the nation and forced the Wolverines to stay outside for their shots.

'Takes Courage'

Badger Coach John Erickson called Michigan "a punky, gutsy team that you have to give credit. When you stand far out and shoot with only a few minutes left, that takes courage, real courage, and that's what Michigan had."

"I thought we had them this time, but we couldn't get the lead," said Erickson. "Oh, if we could only have got the lead."

He praised Ken Barnes, the team captain, for enabling Wisconsin to dominate the boards and said "I have never seen a boy greater on rebounds than Ken Barnes today. He jumped almost to the top of the backboard to grab that ball."

Darden finished with 18 points for Michigan. Gustafson had 18, Sweeney 17, and Franklin 13 for the Badgers.

Wisconsin will take its 6-8 season record to Ohio State tonight.

Coach Harry Combes takes his Illinois basketball team to Michigan Tuesday night fully aware someone had better stop the Wolverines soon or forget about the Big Ten race.

Michigan hasn't lost a conference game on the road as yet.

Attorneys for League, Braves Ordered to Court for Hearing

Early Trial Date Requested By LaFollette

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Milwaukee, the Cinderella of baseball who discovered her prince was footloose and unfaithful, pressed today for an antitrust verdict against the National League before the Braves' scheduled opening day in Atlanta April 12.

Atty. Gen. Bronson C. LaFollette, third generation member of a Wisconsin political dynasty, has asked Circuit Judge Elmer W. Roller to move the trial date forward to no later than Feb. 21.

Roller ordered attorneys for the league and the Braves to appear at a court hearing today to present any arguments against an early trial.

The National League had announced Friday it would ignore Roller's court order that it be prepared to keep the Braves in Milwaukee this year and be prepared to expand beyond the present 10 teams should the judge hand down such an even verdict.

The owners voted unanimously to instruct the Braves to proceed with plans to play in Atlanta after 13 seasons in Milwaukee, the city they were once before blocked from abandoning by a court order.

"Open defiance," LaFollette said of the league's action.

"More harassment," League President Warren Giles said Sunday after the latest court hearing was set.

Roller handed down his court order for 1966 preparations.

Cefalu Garner National Speed Skating Crown

Wins Five of Six Events; Rich Wurster Captures Men's Title

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Pete Cefalu of West Allis, Wis., won five of six events to capture the national speed skating crown in the intermediate boys' competition on Lake Como Sunday.

Rich Wurster, 27, a long-legged Ballston Spa, N. Y., newspaperman, glided to victory Sunday in the 880 and mile to easily outdistance his rivals and take the national men's title for the second straight year.

Diane White, 22, a St. Paul secretary and 1964 women's champion, returned Sunday to win the 1966 crown.

Wurster had 21 points to 10 for Mike Passarella, Chicago Vissar, Rhinelander, 1,023; C. H. Tom Gray of Minneapolis, winner of the Great Lakes championships the previous weekend in Milwaukee, tied for third with 1964 national champion Neil Blatchford of Northbrook, Ill.

Miss White captured the 880 and the 220 on the final day as she dethroned defending champion Jeanne Omelenchuk, a Warren, Mich., school teacher who wound up tied for third.

Cefalu won all three events in intermediate boys' competition Saturday and added triumphs in the 440 and two-mile races Sunday.

His victory was the most widespread of any in the 10 divisions as he racked up 25 points to 8 for runnerup Pat Maxwell of West Webster, N. Y., and 7 for third-place Mike Meier of Wauwatosa, Wis.

Don Cernanac of Cleveland Ohio, won the junior boys' title with Dennis Berry of Minneapolis second and Dave Meier of Wauwatosa third just 3 points behind Cernanac.

Pete Mueller of Madison Wis. tied for first going into the final day of midget boys' competition, failed to place in the 440, and wound up trailing Lee Mazzilli, Brooklyn, N. Y., and Bill Ray Wood of St. Paul. They tied for the title with 8 points each while Mueller had 7.

Final Weekend of Trials Scheduled For Westby Jump

DULUTH, Minn. (AP)—John Balfanz of Minneapolis, Minn., is turning the trials for the U.S. ski jumping squad for the world championships into a one-man exhibition.

Balfanz soared 231 feet on his first jump Sunday, the best performance by any of the 34 competitors so far.

He won at Fond du Lac hill here Saturday also after capturing the first two days of qualifications the previous weekend at Middleton, Wis.

With jumpers counting their best three performances of the six days of trials, Balfanz had already totaled 679.7 points for distance and grace. Gene Kotlarek of Duluth, another Olympian who was second to Balfanz Sunday, had 650.4 points for his best three days so far.

5-Man Squad

A five-man squad will be picked after the windup at Westby next Saturday and Sunday and will represent the United States in the Federation Internationale de Ski championships at Oslo, Norway, Feb. 17-27.

Morse Urges U. N. Take Over Viet Nam Peacemaking Effort

Sen. Stennis Opposes Delegating 'Problem They Could Not Solve'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse has urged the resumption of bombing in North Vietnam to bring the Viet Nam, promised to study the United Nations Security Council. In Evanston, Ill., Undersecretary of State George Ball described as a fiction North Vietnam's demand that the United States recognize the National Liberation Front as "the sole genuine representative of the people of South Viet Nam" before a peaceful settlement was possible.

The National Liberation Front, Ball told a Northwestern University alumni group, "is purely and simply a fictitious organization created by Hanoi to reinforce a fiction." The United States has offered to consider the views of any group without preconditions, Ball said.

Morse and Stennis aired their disagreements on an unusual 90-minute CBS television-radio program "Congress and War." Also appearing were Sens. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., and Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., and Rep. Hale Boggs, D-La.

The discussion turned into a hot debate after Morse said U.S. operations in Viet Nam were in violation of 13 articles in the U.N. Charter and challenged President Johnson's authority for waging war without a formal declaration. Morse had said Saturday he will offer a Senate resolution today to force a test vote on Johnson's authority.

"We have done nothing illegal" in Viet Nam, countered Stennis.

Weapon Near To Penetrate Antimissiles

AEC Report Says U. S. Leading in Nuclear Defense

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission disclosed today the United States may be close to significant breakthroughs in enhancing the powers of American nuclear-tipped intercontinental missiles to penetrate an enemy's antimissile defenses.

It did so in a report saying also that:

1. America already leads the world in the "nuclear defense" field;

2. Improved nuclear weapons of various types including "demolition munitions" such as atomic land mines were added last year to the stockpile; and

3. The nation's nuclear weapons are even now working toward developing even more advanced types.

The AEC's annual report to Congress did not specifically describe the latter.

But apparently they entail still further progress toward assuring that American missiles — launched after an attack on the United States — would at least partially be able to foil, destroy and penetrate enemy counter measures — including their own missiles, and ground devices.

Subzero Weather Fires Bring Death To Infant, Over $300,000 Damage

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

An infant died and damage mounted past a third of a million dollars as fires swept Wisconsin in subzero weather Sunday.

The small boy was killed as flames swept his family's residence in Milwaukee. A teen-aged passerby led five other children to safety.

A $250,000 fire destroyed an ornament factory in Port Washington in the city's worst blaze in four years.

A $75,000 fire swept an implement store in Abbottsford in temperatures 20 degrees below zero.

A railroad depot at Adams and a rural grocery and tavern in Dane County were destroyed by other fires.

Nine-month-old Patrick Jenette died as flames charred the interior of his parents' two-story frame home on Milwaukee's of Robert Marquardt, 71, of rural Hubertus in Washington County northwest of Milwaukee.

John Pearson, 15, a passerby, saw smoke streaming from the burning home and rushed in to lead five other children, ranging in age from 2 to 8, to safety.

The youth tried to reach the infant in an upstairs bedroom but was driven back by heat and flames. He tried to climb a drainpipe outside to reach the second floor, but it collapsed as he inched up it.

Firemen said the blaze erupted in a first-floor bedroom.

The mother, Mrs. Wanis Jenette, 32, who had been visiting the home of a relative nearby, and a police detective were hospitalized for treatment of smoke inhalation suffered when they tried to enter the back door.

The father, who was also away, was treated for shock.

U. S. Military Forces Near Korean Peak

Total of Fight, Support Troops At 313,000; 1953 High 472,000

By ELTON C. FAY
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. military forces in Viet Nam are approaching the peak strength of Americans who fought in the Korean War and may top that total by the end of this year.

Ashore in Viet Nam, according to the most recently announced official figures, are about 197,300 Army, Marine Corps, Navy, Air Force and Coast Guard men.

But when other forces assigned to fight or support the Viet Nam war from other neighboring locations are added, the over-all total runs up to about 313,000.

At peak strength, in mid-1953, the United States had about 472,000 men deployed in Korea or conducting action from bases and waters in adjacent areas.

Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Defense Preparedness subcommittee, predicted in a Jackson, Miss., speech Thursday that by the end of this year U.S. manpower in the Viet Nam war very well may be 350,000 to 400,000. He said that he would not be surprised if ultimately 600,000 men were required.

Whatever Needed

Although President Johnson did not make specific predictions of manpower increases in his State of the Union and budget messages to Congress, he indicated that the American effort in Viet Nam may mount.

He has said the United States will provide "whatever forces and equipment are needed."

Pentagon statisticians date U.S. involvement in the Viet Nam war from Jan. 1, 1961. At that time there were about 770 American military men in South Viet Nam serving only as advisers. Not until five years had elapsed did the total of U.S. forces "in-country" reach the approximate 197,300 total.

The 197,300 lines up this way: Army 126,000; Navy (ashore) 9,000; Marines 39,000; Air Force 23,000; Coast Guard 300.

To this in-country force should be added: about 70,000 aboard ships of the 7th Fleet which launches air strikes and provides shore bombardment; another 8,000 on the island of Guam from where B52 heavy bombers take off on tactical bombing strikes against Viet Cong targets in South Viet Nam; about 30,000 in Okinawa where troops move in and out in support of the Viet Nam war; perhaps up to 15,000 U.S. personnel in Thailand who have a role in the Viet Nam war as well as helping strengthen the security of Thailand.

Black Hawks Tie for Lead

Score Fourth Win of Season On Detroit Ice

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Detroit's home ice record is enough to discourage most National Hockey League visitors, but the Red Wings are only the second hottest club in the Motor City.

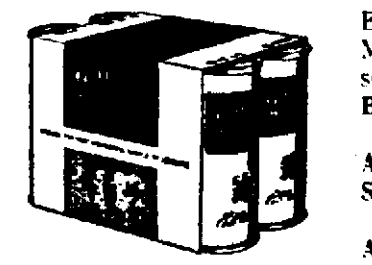

The Chicago Black Hawks, who whipped the Wings 5-1 behind reserve goalie Dave Dryden Sunday night and gained a share of first place in the NHL race, have made five trips to Detroit this season and won four times. The Wings are 10-4-4 at home against the rest of the league.

Meanwhile, Montreal completed a weekend sweep with a 3-1 victory over Boston and climbed within one point of the leaders. The New York Rangers, paced by Red Fleming and Bob Nevin, blasted Toronto 8-4 in Sunday night's other game.

Detroit tied the Black Hawks 4-4 at Chicago Saturday night on Alex Delvecchio's goal with two seconds to play while Montreal trimmed New York 6-2 and Toronto overpowered Boston 6-3.

Bobby Hull, who scored twice against the Red Wings Saturday night for a season total of 42 goals, was limited to one assist in the rematch at Detroit.

Albie Pearson of the California Angels.

"I've got to win my job all over again."

It's not size that concerns the 5-foot-5, 140-pound outfielder. Since his debut with the Washington Senators in 1958, he proved he knows the way to the record books.

Rookie of the year with the Senators, Pearson went on to bat .304 in 1963 — the first Angel to break .300 — played 154 games and started at center in the All-Star classic.

Compete With Youth
But three years later, Albie is 30 and must compete with youth. Rick Reichardt, 21, Ed Kirkpatrick, 21, and Jose Cardenal, 22, are also waiting for Manager Bill Rigney to designate the starting outfield for the Angels season opener in Chicago April 2.

"I'm pulling for the kids to come through," says Pearson, father of three, good naturedly. "I hope they are ready. Anyway, it takes more than three outfielders to make an outfield."

The first test comes in spring training, which the Angels will start in Palm Springs. The Angels, who departed Los Angeles toward the end of last season, will play their home games in a sparkling new stadium in this suburban city — home of Disneyland.

Bruised Hand
Last year, Albie showed up late with a sore arm, the result of a golf tournament he felt he couldn't miss. Then he bruised his hand.

The rocky start generated rumors he was headed for the minors, and the whispers didn't stop until August, when Pearson's 279 earned him his third club batting crown.

Feeling a little like an old man now, Pearson says he isn't taking any chances, adding, "This year I'll be in camp three or four days early."

It's a new season in a new stadium with a newly named team fighting for a new pennant. To be ready, Pearson has sold several of his outside business interests.

Explains Albie: "When you are worried about other things it takes away your edge."

let alone at home and as the season advances the schedule definitely grows in favor of the Wolverines.

Wisconsin had a chance Saturday to sidetrack Cazzie Russell and his teammates but the Badgers, playing far beyond their ability and catching Michigan in an off game, let it slip away with a 69-67 decision.

Within Reach
Michigan State kept within reach of the undefeated Wolverines with a 77-68 triumph over Northwestern and Minnesota, still in contention, pounded Purdue 91-75 in a sweep for visiting teams.

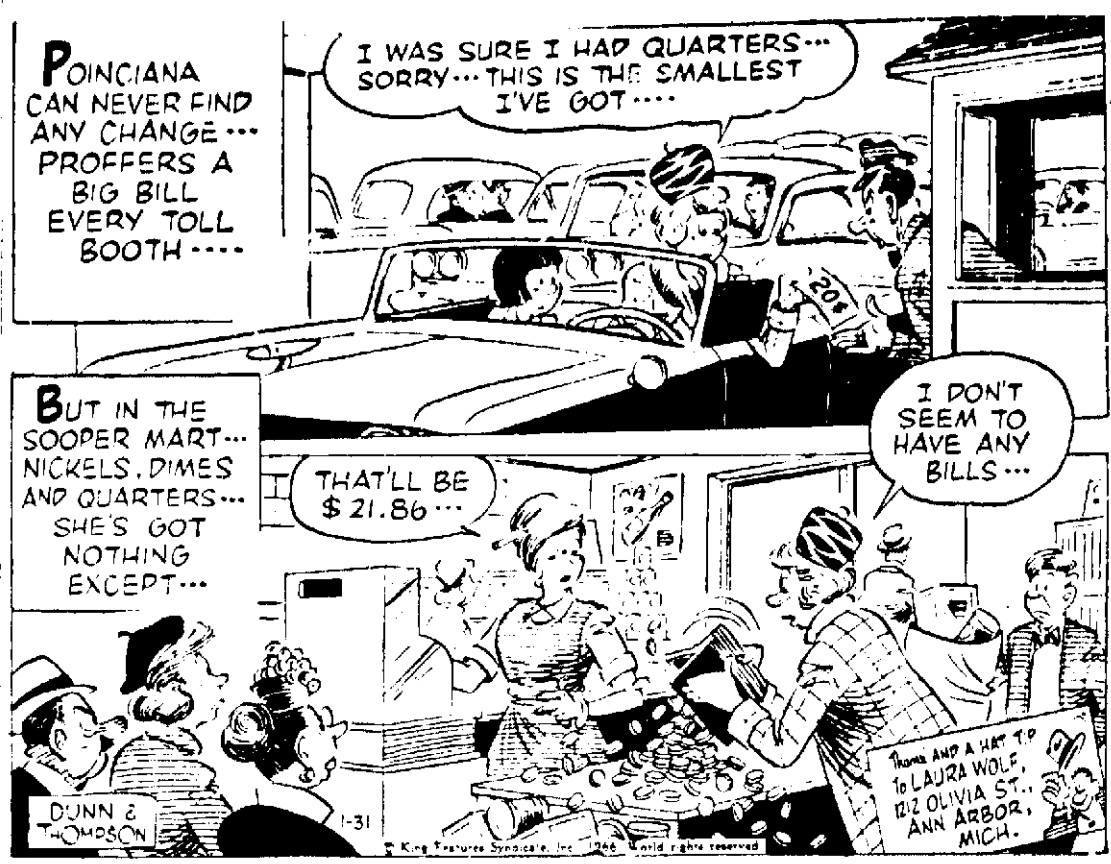

Including the Illinois game, Michigan has five games remaining at home and four on the road. Games at Indiana and at Purdue shouldn't be beyond Michigan's talented reach.

In fact, only two contests on the Wolverine schedule appear to be troublesome. Those find Michigan at Iowa Feb. 21 and at Michigan State March 7.

Big Ten activity is limited to one game tonight, Wisconsin at Ohio State. Aside from the important Illinois-Michigan tilt Tuesday, Northwestern is at Minnesota and Indiana is at DePaul in a non-conference game.

Four conference games are scheduled Saturday with Michigan at Indiana, Ohio State at Illinois, Purdue at Minnesota and Wisconsin at Michigan State.

Iowa meets Detroit in part of a Chicago Stadium doubleheader, which also features Marquette and high-ranking Loyola.

'Big 10' Teams Survive Perils

Fright Reigns as King In Prep Basketball Play

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Halloween in January? Maybe not, but the bells stopped tolling only a tick short of midnight for many of the powers that be in Wisconsin high school basketball in a Vikings 79-78. High-scoring John Wolf, who missed the first game because of illness, decided the rematch with a basket in the final minute.

Third-ranked Milwaukee Lincoln (11-1) avoided Saturday night's scares by rolling over Milwaukee Boys' Tech 83-55.

Despite the weekend of peril, not a single member of the "Big Ten" bowed once, with No. 1 Madison East (12-0) and No. 2 Green Bay West (12-0) registering their victories Friday night.

The "Little Ten" didn't have a winner Saturday night. Orfordville (12-1), No. 3 among the state's smaller schools, succumbed for the first time to South Wayne 70-61. No. 6 Marathon (12-1) lost for the second straight night, this time to Colby 60-75.

Other members of the "Little Ten," including No. 1 Alma (13-0), won Friday night. No. 10 Onalaska Luther (10-0), with five players scoring in double figures, won again Sunday, beating Lima Sacred Heart 72-49 for its third victory of the week.

Boosts Total
Sewell ran his total to 158 points in the last three games as Grafton (11-2) crushed Port Washington 93-67.

Dan Fisher hit 45 points, all but 10 of his team's total, as Eau Claire Regis (13-3) snapped its deadlock with Wisconsin Rapids Assumption for first place in the Central Wisconsin Catholic Conference 55-54. It was Fisher's tie-breaking free throw with 30 seconds to go that decided the game.

Eau Claire North was behind 43-42 at halftime before La Crosse Logan ran into foul trouble, and Jim DeCramer and Wayne Gutsch led the charge that brought the Huskies from behind.

Eau Claire Memorial trailed 36-31 at halftime and 56-50 at the end of three periods before overtaking Winona in the last 30 seconds. Bob Hall led four Memorial players in double figures.

World Test Starts Feb. 22

U. S. Figure Skating Team's Hopes Run High

By RON BERGMAN
BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Not since 1960 when the United States last won a title in the World Figure Skating Championships have hopes been so high as now.

Hopes also were high in 1961 when the U.S. team took off for the World Championships at Prague.

But all 18 members of that team were killed in a crash of their jet plane that was trying to land at Brussels before going on to Czechoslovakia. The event was canceled.

Late Saturday night at Berkeley, Iceland at the end of the 48th U.S. Figure Skating Championships there was hope again for a gold medal in one of the four divisions in the world meet, starting Feb. 22 at Davos, Switzerland. And, as a precaution, the 16-member U.S. team won't fly to Europe together.

Regained Title
Scott Ethan Allen, the 17-year-old runner-up in the 1965 World Championships, regained the senior men's title he had lost last year. Alain Calmat, the Frenchman who took the world crown last year, has retired.

Gary Visconti, 20, of Detroit, the dethroned 1965 titlist, placed second to Allen, of Smoke Rise, N.J., who had piled up a large lead in the more important school figures.

Visconti, along with Emmerich Danzer of Austria, pose a threat to the U.S. champ. Allen was the only skater Saturday night to complete successfully a triple maneuver — three revolutions in the air — doing it twice in different jumps.

Billy Chapel, 20, of Colorado Springs, won the third spot on Saturday night.

Senior Ladies Crown
Allen's improvement in the compulsory figures which count 60 per cent was matched by Peggy Fleming, 17, of Colorado Springs, who captured her third consecutive senior ladies title.

Miss Fleming, who finished third in the World Championships last year, once again must contend with Petra Burka of Canada, the overwhelming winner in 1965.

Albertina Noves, 16, of Arlington, Mass., 10th in world competition last year, finished second to Miss Fleming. Pam Schneider, 17, of Lincroft, N.J., finished third and grabbed the last spot for the trip to Davos.

Cynthia, 17, and Ronald Kauffman, 19, of Seattle, who finished sixth at the world meet in 1965, captured the senior pairs title with ease. They were runners-up to the now-retired pair of Vivian and Ronald Joseph, who placed second in the international event.

Kristin Fortune, 19, and Dennis Sveun, 20, of Los Angeles, posted their second consecutive victory in the gold dance. Lorna Dyer, 20, and John Carrell, 19, of Colorado Springs, took second. Susan, 16, and Stan Urban, 20, of Buffalo, were third — the exact order of finish as in the previous year.

Other champions crowned after the four-day meet were: Junior ladies — Janet Lynn, 12, Rockford, Ill.; junior men — John Misha Petkevich, 16, Great Falls, Mont.; novice ladies — Dawn Glab, 12, Paramount, 641.8

Seeks Advance In Braves' Trial Date

Thursday. After listening to Braves' requests that the trial, originally set for Feb. 1, be delayed until June 1, he issued a compromise ruling Friday that rescheduled the trial for March 7.

After the league's statement, La Follette asked Saturday that the date be moved forward again and Roller promptly signed an order summoning Braves' attorneys into court today.

Accuses League
The state antitrust suit contends baseball is a monopoly. It accuses the National League of a conspiracy to deprive Milwaukee of the business of baseball. The suit asks that either the Braves be required to remain in Milwaukee or the National League be ordered to grant the city a replacement franchise probably through expansion.

The Braves are already under a temporary injunction issued by a Georgia court ordering them to honor their 25-year contract to play in Atlanta. State and Milwaukee County attorneys, who have subpoenaed many of the Braves' records, say that contract includes an escape clause freeing the Braves from their lease if the move is prevented by court action. Upholding the contract, they contend, also means upholding the escape clause.

Braves' officials deny there is such an escape clause. Giles said Friday the National League chose to comply with the Atlanta injunction rather than the Milwaukee court order.

Legal Challenge
Baseball Commissioner William D. Eckert, asked in New York if he intended to act to ease the most serious legal challenge to the sport in 44 years, said Sunday, "The matter is now in the courts and I'm not going to guess or prejudice the situation."

His assistant, Lee MacPhail, used simpler language. "We don't plan to do anything at the present time."

Federal courts last fall agreed Wisconsin could prosecute its antitrust suit in state courts. The challenge is considered the most dangerous to baseball's traditional immunity from anti-trust laws, won in 1922 when the U.S. Supreme Court ruled the sport was neither interstate nor commercial in the days before television and transcontinental travel.

Fox Lutheran JVs Score Ninth Win

Behind 18-77, at the end of three periods, the Fox Valley Lutheran High School junior varsity exploded with a 25-point fourth quarter to down Milwaukee University School 62-46, in a Midwest Prep Conference tilt Friday night.

The Junior Foxes had gotten off to an early lead with easy layups before the Wildcats changed their defense and managed to tighten up the middle somewhat. FVL led 13-9, at the end of the first stanza and 27-24 at halftime.

Tim Johnson sparked the fourth-quarter rally and finished with a season high of 32 points, more than half the FVL total.

FVL — (13 14 10 25-62) Johnson 13 6 0, Potter 3 8 3, Arns 1 2 5, Palmback 0 2 0, Wood 4 0 2, Goldbeck 1 0 2. Totals 22 18 11. Free throws missed — 7.

ACC Unit Beats North Shore's Hall In Finals, 13-6

An Appleton Curling club rink, skipped by Neenah's Wayne Bryan, Sunday won the championship of the 1966 ACC Mixed Invitational Bonspiel.

Bryan whipped Richard Hall, of Chicago's North Shore, 13-6, in the finals. Other members of the title-winning rink are Betty Walters, vice skip; Roy Kabella, second, and Karen Olson, lead. Portage's Bruce Rogers captured the second-event title with a 10-5 victory over Appleton's Bob Wirth. Other members of the winning rink were Mary Rogers and Irv and Dorothy York. Others curling with Wirth were Mrs. Wirth and Mr. and Mrs. "Dobbie" Robertson.

Wausau's Ed Sturgeon (combining with Mary Sturgeon and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Smith) won the third event title, with an 11-5 win over Madison's Jim Cottrell.

Milwaukee's Dave Clark outscored Appleton's Bernie Samuels, 13-10, in 11 ends for the fourth-event crown. Other members of the winning unit were Mrs. Clark and Mr. and Mrs. trust laws, won in 1922 when the U.S. Supreme Court ruled the sport was neither interstate nor commercial in the days before television and transcontinental travel.

Weber Wins Second All-Star Title in Row

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — had entries from every state plus Japan, Australia and Canada. There were 260 women competing for the feminine title.

Weber started out as if he were going to make it a runaway, but ultimately needed a flying start in the third game to hold off Burton.

After jumping into a 49-pin lead in the first game, 225-176, Weber's advantage was cut to 14 pins when the 23-year-old Burton put together a string of eight consecutive strikes in the middle of the second game for a 269 effort. Weber had his best game of the day, 234, but still lost 25 points to the challenger.

With Burton closing in, Weber fired five strikes in a row to start the deciding game. However, the champion opened the door when he left the nine-pin in the sixth frame.

Burton took advantage of the break and closed with six strikes in a row, but still was three pins shy at the finish.

It was the 11th time in 14 All-Star appearances that Weber picked up a paycheck. His total winnings easily top the money list. Don Carter, also of St. Louis, is second with $27,000. Weber and Carter have dominated the tournament in recent years. They are the only four-time winners, but Carter's pay-offs were when the tournament was paying much less than it is today.

Sunday's four finalists earned their way into the championship rollofs through a series of eliminations during the first 12 days of the tournament.

Beard Retains Tourney Lead

Holds 1-Shot Edge Over Mike Souchak; Palmer Trails by 4

By JACK STEVENSON

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Top golfers drew a bead on the sharpshooter today as the $57,000 Lucky International Open Tournament finally reached its final round with Kentuckian Frank Beard aiming for a wire-to-wire victory.

The 26-year-old from Louisville, Ky., has led for four days, normally enough to bring a first-prize check except that play on the third round was nullified Saturday when rain flooded the greens at Harding Park.

So after a 66-67, the bespectacled Southerner came back after the weather drenched day to card a 70 and go into the finals over Mike Souchak and two ahead of Ray Floyd.

Nobody shot 206 for 54 holes but five, including the incomparable Arnold Palmer, were deadlocked at 207. Thirty-three pros were under par for the tournament and nine more were even with the regulation figure.

at 213 for three rounds over the 6,692-ward Harding Park layout.

Three golfers last year achieved the start-to-finish victory to which Beard aspires led all the way in breaking a tie in October's Sahara Invitational. Bob Rudolph hit 29 points for each round at the Tournament of Champions and New Zealand-born Bob Charles in the Tucson Open.

Defeats Ashe in Finals

Emerson Wins Aussie Title

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — After missing with his first serve, the footfault was called on his second, giving Emerson world's top-ranking amateur tennis player, captured the match. Ashe then walked the match.

Ashe had defeated Emerson in their last three tournament meetings but the UCLA student was no match for the Australian, who won the Nationals for the fourth straight year.

Emerson previously had shared the record of four Australian National titles with Jack Crawford, who won four crowns in the 1930s, including three in a row.

The finish of the match came unexpectedly as the crowd of 5,000 at the White City Courts was startled as Ashe footfaulted on match point. It was the only footfault of the 1½-hour match and produced the dramatic ending.

The American was down 13-

George Wilson Joins Dolphins

Wally Lemm Signs As Houston Mentor; Cards' Job Still Open

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer
George Wilson and Wally Lemm, who lost their head coaching jobs in the National Football League under controversial circumstances, have jumped over to the rival American League and left the St. Louis Cardinals as the lone pro football team without a coach.

Wilson, who won the NFL championship with the 1957 Detroit Lions, covered a 29-year connection with the National League as a player and coach when he signed a three-year

Carleton and Monmouth, took to AFL championship in front of runners in the Midwest Conference basketball race, as the most precarious assignment in pro football, becoming the club's sixth coach in seven years.

Carleton was pressed into an overtime before stopping Knox, 75-74. Monmouth, beaten by the Cardinals the previous night, edged St. Olaf 84-78.

Beloit, recuperating from a two-week collapse which knocked the Bucs out of first place, sank 55 per cent of its floor shots against Ripon and led all the way in breaking a tie for third with the Red Men.

dejectedly to the net to congratulate the Australian.

Emerson also teamed with Fred Stolle to win the men's doubles championship by defeating defending titleholders John Newcombe and Tony Roche 7-9, 6-3, 6-8, 14-12, 12-10 in the all-Australian final.

Margaret Smith won the Australian National women's singles title for the seventh consecutive year when Nancy Richey of Dallas, Tex., her opponent in the finals, had to forfeit because of an ailing left knee.

Mrs. Richey aggravated the injury Saturday while pairing with Carole Grachner of Beachwood, Ohio, to win the women's doubles crown.

Sunday night she announced she would not play the singles final on medical advice. She said that the doctor had told her that she would risk permanent injury to her knee cartilage if she continued playing in the tournament.

In the Emerson Ashe match, after Emerson won the first set 6-4, the American displayed his best tennis in the second set.

In the 14th game Ashe had Emerson down 15-40 after a volleyed winner and Emerson missed the sideline. Emerson again hit the ball too wide on the next point and the set went to Ashe.

This moved eventually to be the only break Ashe was able to gain against the defending champion's service.

Ashe was never able to get on top of Emerson's service, which he frequently returned into the net.

On the other hand, Ashe's service was far from its best. He missed with a great number of his first deliveries and his second service often was slow and weak.

Ashe was broken twice in the third set, once to love. In that game Emerson had him down 0-40 with great passing shots and then hit a lob that just caught the corner.

In the fourth set Ashe was broken to 30 when he badly misjudged a return of service from Emerson. With Emerson then ahead 4-3, the match seemed virtually over and Emerson then served a love game for a 5-3 lead.

In the final game the score was 30-30 and Ashe handed Emerson match point when he netted a volley.

U.S. Resumes Air Attacks; LBJ Makes New Peace Bid

Goldberg Will Seek U.N. Meeting

Backstage Peace Offensive

Details of Decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson made a new Vietnamese peace bid to the United Nations today a few hours after American bombers resumed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk disclosed today the United States offered to extend the bombing pause over North Viet Nam if the Communist leaders there would make a peace gesture in response to the U.S. peace offensive.

He told a news conference, however, that Hanoi's response had been "negative, harsh and unyielding."

"Hanoi was informed at an early stage of the suspension of bombing," Rusk told a news conference. "They were told that no decision had been made on the resumption of bombing."

air strikes against North Viet Nam.

The renewal of bombing "does not mean the end of our pursuit of peace," Johnson told the nation and the world in a special broadcast.

The President announced that he had directed Ambassador Arthur Goldberg to seek an immediate meeting of the U.N. Security Council in order to make a full report on the Vietnamese situation and to present a resolution for new action toward peace.

The resolution, the President said, "can open the way to the conference table."

Papal Appeal

"This report and this resolution," Johnson declared, "will be responsive to the spirit of the renewed appeal of Pope Paul; that appeal has our full sympathy."

Johnson said he had ordered renewal of the bombing to save the lives of American. South

WASHINGTON (AP) — Months of pondering how to bring peace to Viet Nam. Secret sessions with top U.S. strategists. Day-to-day decisions on withholding bombing. A flood of U.S. presidential envoys abroad. A Communist rebuff. A big debate at home.

These are major ingredients of the 37-day peace offensive which came to a shattering end today with President Johnson's order resuming the air strikes on North Viet Nam.

Here is a detailed look at what went on — backstage, sometimes in tight secrecy, as well as out in the open:

For the background, hark back to last spring.

Suspension in May

On April 7, 1965, Johnson set forth in a speech at Johns Hopkins University, his offer of "unconditional discussions" for a peaceful settlement. His April 7 terms remain basically the U.S. position today: the United States wants nothing except independence and security for South Viet Nam, and "will do everything necessary to reach that objective." The Reds denounced his proposal as a cover-up for more U.S. "aggression."

On Nov. 11 the issue was raised in secrecy at a conference at the LBJ Ranch in Texas. Gathered with the President were Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and presidential assistants McGeorge Bundy and Jack Valenti.

The arguments for and against suspending the air attacks on the Communist North at that time kept recurring in following weeks and into the period of the peace offensive itself.

Against a bombing letup:

In May he ordered a five-day halt in air strikes on North Viet Nam to test further the Communist response. Hanoi refused even to receive a U.S. diplomatic note conveyed through the British.

Through the summer and into the fall critics of Johnson's Viet Nam policy, including Red regimes outside of Hanoi and Pe-king, contended the May pause had not been long enough to give Hanoi a reasonable chance to respond. Washington asked what Hanoi would do if the bombing stopped, and got no answer.

But administration strategists kept the possibility in mind.

On Nov. 11 the issue was raised in secrecy at a conference at the LBJ Ranch in Texas. Gathered with the President were Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and presidential assistants McGeorge Bundy and Jack Valenti.

The arguments for and against suspending the air attacks on the Communist North at that time kept recurring in following weeks and into the period of the peace offensive itself.

Against a bombing letup:

North Viet Nam could more freely infiltrate and supply the Reds in the South. Washington would be losing an ace card in any negotiations. Hanoi would misread the pause as a sign of U.S. weakness, resuming the bombing would cause serious diplomatic and public opinion problems for the United States.

For the pause: The bombing so far had not stopped the North's aggression against the South or produced Communist interest in negotiating, the air strikes could be resumed in time to avoid serious military loss. Washington would score great diplomatic and propaganda gains around the world—and Hanoi might be persuaded to start talking peace, as the Soviets and some others had suggested.

Johnson reached no decision at the time. He sent his top advisers back to Washington with instructions to weigh the pros and cons. The chief executive continued to think about the matter during his weeks of convalescence at his ranch home following his gall bladder-kidney stone operation.

On Dec. 7 Johnson went into

Targets Far South of Industrial Areas Struck In New Attacks From Air

By THOMAS A. REEDY
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The United States unleashed its bombers against North Viet Nam today after holding off air attacks for 37 days while vainly trying to bring the Communists to the peace table.

The first waves of U.S. Navy and Air Force planes hit bridges, ferries, barges, warehouse areas and storage facilities well south of the Hanoi-Haiphong industrial area. Later flights pummeled highway No. 1, a main artery along the coast, wrecking a truck convoy and destroying a bridge, a U.S. spokesman reported.

The later attacks were centered around Vinh, on North Viet Nam's central coast.

Ground Offensive

On the ground, U.S. and South Vietnamese forces stepped up their offensives against the Viet Cong, but the Communists inflicted heavy losses on a militia unit and Red guns hammered Allied positions.

A U.S. spokesman said Navy pilots claimed destruction of a bridge about 10 miles southeast of Dong Hoi and damage to the approach to the Quang Khe ferry landing about 20 miles northwest of Dong Hoi.

Bad weather prevented estimates of the damage in other raids. Spokesmen declined to say how many sorties were flown or what types of bombs were dropped.

One Navy plane was shot down as the raiders encountered heavy ground fire. But a U.S. Air Force helicopter rescued the pilot unharmed under machine-gun fire. He was Lt. Cmdr. Sylvester Chumley of Lemoore, Calif.

Chumley's A4 Skyhawk jet went down about a mile off Dong Hoi. The Communists peppered the water around him for 35 minutes as he waited to be rescued.

Resumption of the bombing had been expected for several days because of repeated statements from Washington that the halt in the strikes had failed to bring a favorable response from North Viet Nam.

Allied intelligence reports said the North Vietnamese made use of the bombing lull to rebuild roads, railways and bridges destroyed by U.S. planes in the past year. Aerial photographs revealed pontoon bridges strung across rivers, and heavy traffic has been spot-

Fete for Carley Tops $50,000 For Campaign

Blizzard Details Sen. McCarthy in Nation's Capital

MILWAUKEE — David Carley, host and honored guest at a $50-a-plate testimonial dinner here Sunday night, added more than $50,000 to the campaign war chests of his drive for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Missing from the event, attended by more than 800 party faithful, was the featured guest speaker of the evening, Minnesota's Democratic Sen. Eugene McCarthy, who was snow-bound in his Washington, D.C., home, as 16 inches of snow fell on the nation's capital.

McCarthy spoke to the gathering for a short time over a telephone hook-up, and was careful to avoid endorsing any of the announced and potential candidates for the nomination, calling only for the election of a liberal Democrat to the governor's chair.

The Wisconsin Democratic gubernatorial primary, still seven months away, has gained national attention due to overtones of a pitched battle between backers of Vice President Hubert Humphrey and New York Sen. Robert Kennedy.

Present at Sunday's dinner was Lt. Gov. Patrick J. Lucey, Carley's greatest rival for the gubernatorial nod. Lucey, an ardent Kennedy backer, grossed about $80,000 in a similar fund-raising dinner last fall. Featured speaker that evening was Sen. Kennedy.

Before the dinner Carley told newsmen he expects the primary battle between now and September to be the most bitter in the state's history. A self-proclaimed underdog when he

Both Sides Firm Filibuster Resumed To Block 14B Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today went into its second week of the union shop battle with neither side ready to budge from its position.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said his only plan for now was to keep before the Senate his motion to bring up the bill which would repeal section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Act. That section authorizes states to outlaw union shop contracts.

Mansfield got an agreement for the Senate to convene two hours earlier than its usual noon meeting after a wrangle with the bill's opponents at a Saturday session. Because of the timing, Senate committees scheduled no hearings for the day.

Maintain Filibuster

Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said his forces would maintain their filibuster which has prevented a vote even on the preliminary motion to bring the bill before the Senate.

Dirksen said a break in the stalemate could come when the Armed Services Committee sends to the Senate floor an authorization bill in support of President Johnson's request for an additional $12.3 billion for the Vietnamese war.

At that point, he said he would demand to know whether repeal of section 14B took precedence over the needs of U.S. troops in Viet Nam.

Mansfield would say only that he would "face up to that decision" when the authorization bill is ready.

McNamara Report

The Senate Armed Services group is to hear Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara again Tuesday on the authorization measure. Committee aides said it could be approved and sent to the floor later in the week, although this is not certain.

Foes of the repeal bill estimated they had enough speakers lined up to keep the filibuster going for several weeks.

Report to Congress

President's Message Lauds Space Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson said today that American space achievements last year were a brilliant preface to the coming years of stations in space and voyages to the planets.

In a special message to Congress, Johnson said 1965 with its walk in space and the rendezvous of two manned U.S. spacecraft was the most successful year in the nation's aeronautics space history.

"As our space program continues," the President told Congress, "the impact of its developments on everyday life becomes daily more evident. It continues to stimulate our education, improve our material well-being, and broaden the horizons of knowledge. It is also a powerful force for peace."

Largest Effort
The space program of the United States today is the largest effort ever undertaken by any nation to advance the frontiers of human knowledge. What we are discovering and building today will help solve many of

High Court To Review Hoffa Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed today to a limited review of James R. Hoffa's conviction in 1964 on jury-tampering charges.

In a brief order, the court said it would hear the Teamsters Union president's appeal on one question alone. That is: "Whether evidence obtained by the government by means of deceptively placing a secret informer in the quarters and councils of a defendant during one criminal trial so violates the defendant's Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Amendment rights that suppression of such evidence is required in a subsequent trial of the same defendant on a different charge."

The week-long forecast called for temperatures 6 to 12 degrees below normal readings for early February. This translated in peak temperatures ranging from 7 to 24 above and lows from 13 below to 8 above.

No pause was seen in the constant assault of freezing weather, but the predictions did represent some improvement.

East Coast, South Lashed by Severe Cold, Heavy Snow

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Lashed by a storm piling up deep snow whipped by violent winds, the East Coast shuddered today in the icy grip of a record-breaking cold wave extending from Florida to Maine.

The blizzard, and extreme cold in other areas, contributed to at least 72 deaths from highway accidents, fires and heart attacks in 16 states.

The severe storm swept over the coast over the weekend, leaving cold behind and virtually paralyzing travel in major cities of the populous Northeast, including the nation's capital.

Two states struck the hardest, Delaware and Virginia, declared a state of emergency. Two feet of snow fell in some parts of Virginia and National Guard units were ordered to help clear clogged highways in Delaware.

Wisconsin Weather
Wisconsin's siege of subzero weather broke briefly Sunday before the mercury plummeted again as the state stayed in the icy clutch of Arctic temperatures.

Weathermen predicted slight—only slight relief today.

The week-long forecast called for temperatures 6 to 12 degrees below normal readings for early February. This translated in peak temperatures ranging from 7 to 24 above and lows from 13 below to 8 above.

No pause was seen in the constant assault of freezing weather, but the predictions did represent some improvement.

Lows Sunday ranged down to 25 below zero at Lone Rock, 22 below at La Crosse, and 19 below at Wausau. It was a mere 12 below in Green Bay.

The mercury climbed above zero in the afternoon for the first time in 80 hours for much of the state, but fell back at nightfall.

Snow Forecast

By early today readings ranged down to five below at Wausau. Highs Sunday included 1 above in Eau Claire, 3 above at Milwaukee, and a comparatively warm 9 above at La Crosse.

Soviet Union Launches Luna 9

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union has launched Luna 9 to ward the moon. Tass reported today. It apparently was another attempt to make a soft landing on the moon with an instrument package.

The space probes numbered through Luna 8 were attempts at soft landings. All failed.

Getting instruments down in working order so they can report back from the moon's surface is an essential task before man can try to land there. The United States plans to try its first unmanned soft landing on the moon later this year.

consin has been wrapped in subzero temperatures.

Light snow was expected to move into Wisconsin tonight and Tuesday as the mass of Arctic air centered over the north central states the past week moved on toward the southeast.

The freezing temperatures kept the fruits of mid-January's severe storm still piled over the Wisconsin countryside, with snow depths measured half a foot or more.

Six deaths were counted in the severe cold spell since Thursday afternoon.

A Green Bay mother of eight children was found frozen to death Saturday in the garage of her home.

Authorities said Mrs. William P. Destiche, 41, apparently fell and struck her head on the floor of the open garage late Friday night.

The subzero cold caused a widespread power blackout in Southwestern Wisconsin Sunday. In northern and central Florida, the gigantic citrus crop was threatened by freezing temperatures.

Travelers Stranded
Thousands of travelers were inconvenienced as airports in Washington, New York, Baltimore, Boston, Philadelphia and Montreal were "socked in" by conditions that made take-offs and landings almost impossible on ice-caked runways.

Washington struggled under 16 inches of snow — the worst accumulation in the city in 44 years.

Crashes Kill Nine Persons In Wisconsin

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A pair of triple-fatality crashes have driven Wisconsin's weekend traffic toll to nine dead.

Three persons were killed in a head-on collision near Chippewa Falls Sunday. Three other victims died in another head-on crash at the start of the weekend.

The year's toll rose to 69, compared with 73 through the last day of January in 1965.

A Chippewa Falls couple and a Michigan driver died as a result of a two-car collision Sunday on Highway 29 eight miles west of Chippewa Falls.

Killed outright were Francis Hurt, 41, Chippewa Falls, and Raymond Weber, 25, Buchanan, Mich. Hurt's wife, Iris, 41, died later in a Chippewa Falls hospital.

Authorities said they could give no explanation for the head-on accident.

Ignorance of Medicare Costly to Elderly

BY SYLVIA PORTER

By the Social Security Administration's latest count, only 10.1 million elderly citizens—54 per cent of those eligible—have enrolled in the new $3 a month voluntary doctor insurance plan which, starting July 1, will cover $1.1 billion in doctor bill insurance annually. To date, more than 1.1 million citizens aged

Porter

65 or over have flatly turned down the offer. About 7 million have not yet responded either way despite the federal government's massive "sales" drive and the repeated urging of employers, physicians, private insurance companies, etc.

The tragedy is that millions are failing to sign up for the voluntary program because of gross misunderstanding or gross ignorance of what the insurance actually would do for them. By failing to sign up, they could be making an enormous financial sacrifice.

What Studies Show

Studies just completed by Social Security and other agencies, both public and private, reveal these facts:

—A vast majority of those whose financial condition is most precarious are precisely those who already have said "no" or who have said nothing about their intentions to enroll.

— Among those who have indicated to interviewers that they understand what benefits will be available, 65 per cent already have signed up—against a dismal 16 per cent of signers among those who have indicated ignorance of what the program will mean.

— While most elderly citizens are aware that Medicare's doctor insurance benefits begin July 1, few realize that the enrollment deadline for all those who were 65 or over before Jan. 1, 1966, is March 31—three months earlier. (For those reaching 65 on Jan. 1 or later, the 7-month enrollment period runs from three months before the month of your birthday until three months after it.)

— Even fewer realize that unless they enroll by March 31 they will not get another chance to enroll until Oct. 1, 1967, and they'll not be eligible for benefits until July 1968.

— Of those interviewed one in five had forgotten that they had even received doctor insurance application cards last fall and nearly as many had lost their cards in the interim.

— Nearly one-third of the "no" group reported that the reason they had turned down the offer was that they couldn't afford even the cut-rate $3 a month premium for this Medicare plan— apparently unaware that many local welfare agencies and some private employers have offered to pick up the tab for these very poor.

Biggest Tragedy

But the biggest tragedy is that more than half of those who said "no" to Medicare's voluntary insurance plan did so on the grounds that they already have private insurance or some other means to cover their doctor bills. A majority do not realize that virtually all private and company health insurance policies are to be drastically changed — or eliminated altogether — on July 1, when Medicare benefits begin. The revised plans will be designed to pick up where Medicare leaves off — but not to provide basic doctor bill coverage.

Almost certain to be cut out from private health policies for the elderly as of July 1 are these costs to be provided under the Medicare doctor insurance program: physicians' fees for office, home and hospital or nursing home consultations and services; psychiatrists' consultation fees; up to 100 home visits by skilled nurses, social workers, therapists (in addition to the maximum 100 visits provided under the Medicare hospital plan); ambulance costs; surgical dressings; radioisotope treatment; artificial limbs and similar medical hardware.

Instead, virtually all private health insurers will offer new, non-duplicating policies built around what the Medicare doctor insurance plan DOES NOT cover.

Obviously, it is imperative that you find out at once what is scheduled to happen to the health insurance you now own when Medicare's voluntary doctor insurance becomes effective. Also alert your elderly relatives or friends to the importance of an immediate check.

Tomorrow: What you forfeit if you don't enroll.

EXTRAVAGANCE MAY BE A SIGN OF EMOTIONAL DISORDER! TRUE FALSE

Even more serious, they may be popular because they cannot get along well with the other teachers.

True. One husband, whose wife was bankrupting him, sent her to a psychiatrist. Analysis showed that the wife had developed from her father a strong hatred toward all men, of which she was not aware. Her extravagance was her way of expressing this hostility toward the man she married. Understanding it made it possible for her to overcome her extravagance. This is just one of the facts of married life that you must face. There are many others, however. For a complete picture of this matter, read our popular booklet, "Facing the Facts of Married Life." A copy's yours for 20 cents and a stamped, return envelope sent to this column, in care of the Post-Crescent, Appleton, Wis., 54911.

Mother Concerned About Son, Money Management

BY MARY FEELEY

Consultant in Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley:

We have two sons going into the Army this month. The 19-year-old is a happy-go-lucky, generous person — generous to a fault — and has only $115 in his savings account. The younger boy is a naturally thrifty person. He has fun, but some-how manages to get along with lots of unnecessary things. By consistently saving, he now has $1,052 in the bank.

Each has only a $1,000 life insurance policy. What I want to know is: will they automatically be given more insurance when they enter the service? I understand this is at a much lower rate than if they buy it commercially and the premium is taken out of their monthly wages.

Also, does the government send home a portion of their wages if they ask for that arrangement? How much would be a fair amount for me to put into their savings account each month?

Although their wages will be low in the Army, isn't it true that they have the advantage of shopping at the PX?

"Mid-West Mother"

Dear Mother:

Your sons can take advantage of GI insurance, once they are in the service — $10,000 maximum per man. It isn't automatic. They have the privilege of taking it or not. But since the cost is low — $2 a month deducted from their pay — they'll certainly want it.

Base pay is $87.90 for the first four months; after that, $93.90. The Army isn't going to budget the pay checks, so it's up to you and your sons to decide how much they can send home. And they'll have to do the sending. As for what would be fair, wait awhile and let it be true that shopping at the PX will save them some money. But remember your sons will be

"For gosh sakes, Alvin, just pay the check. I won't peek into your wallet!"

Purity of Bloodstream Not Involved in Periods

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: A discussion has been raging at our house for years. One argument is that a young woman's bloodstream becomes more and more impure as the time between her periods progresses, and when she has her period, these impurities are lost. The contention is that she had the forces which tell a bear when to hibernate for a winter, a rose bush to have occasional seed globes, or a morning glory to open in the sunshine.

Headaches, nervousness, blemishes or other side effects may occur before a menstrual period, but most women do not have these problems. True, most women gain a bit of weight, usually a pound or two, occasionally more than that, as the hormones rise and fluid is retained in the tissues. But it's normal.

Yes, hormones control this. Yet hormones is just a word to describe certain complicated chemicals which are a part of life. We can isolate and accumulate hormones, and use them, but we have yet to understand exactly why and how they work. We know a lot about chemistry, but we don't know it all.

Dear Dr. Molner: Does sinus trouble cause sweats and weak spells that last a few minutes? My doctor can't account for these spells. — Mrs. A.B.

Sinus disease, if it involves acute infection, can make you very ill, but this primarily involves fever, pain and considerable nasal discharge. It is unlikely that the spells you describe would stem from that. I'd have the doctor keep on searching for the real cause — and there are many possible ones.

Dear Dr. Molner: I do housework for a lady who has glaucoma. Is it contagious? — J.B.

No, you are in no danger.

For a comprehensive discussion of how to cope with the change of life, including scores of pertinent questions and their answers, send for my booklet, "Make Menopause Easier," enclosing 25 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to cover cost of printing and handling.

headache, nervousness, blemishes or pimples at the beginning of her period, but they disappear afterwards because she has gotten rid of these impurities.

The other thought is that her bloodstream is as pure or impure as at any other time, and that the blemishes, headaches or nervousness are probably brought on because her hormones are upset temporarily. Please enlighten us. — Mrs. D.H.

This same argument seems (my mail tells me) to be quite widespread, so let's discuss it. The purity of the bloodstream is not involved. Nature's purpose in causing a monthly period is not to remove impurities.

Rather, the purpose is to wash away a thin lining of the uterus, so a new one can grow in case next month the ovum is fertilized and a baby begins to form in that lining.

The blood used in this process is slightly different, in that it flows instead of clots, as blood ordinarily does when it reaches the air — as blood quickly clots when we have a minor wound.

Exactly how the body does this, we do not know. There are innumerable questions about the body. Nature, and the universe which we can't know. How do violets know when to bloom in the spring? Why does water freeze at 32 degrees? Why do we sneeze? Chemistry may be the greatest mystery of life. Right now it is for us to learn all we can about how things happen, without necessarily knowing why.

The monthly period affects women, not because of impurities in the blood, but because they are females. This cyclic change is controlled by hormones, and hormones are governed, by Nature. The exact "how" is still as mysterious as

Make a Garden in a Plastic Box as a Gift for a Friend

BY CAPPY DICK

Over the bottom of the box scatter some charcoal to keep the soil sweet. On top of the charcoal spread a layer of fine gravel half an inch deep. Then spread a deep layer of black dirt mixed with a little sand and some decayed leaves. You may shape the soil into valleys and hills, if you wish.

In the soil plant the seeds of some small woodland plants such as sedum and violets. A florist can help you select the right seeds. Also plant some small ferns. You may even plant grass seed.

When the seeds have been planted, water the garden and water it just enough day by day to keep the air in the terrarium moist. Make a small hole in the lid to allow some fresh air to enter, but not too much. If too much moisture gathers on the plastic, remove the lid for a while.

escape, permitting small plants to thrive in the warm, moist atmosphere inside.

To make a plastic terrarium, you must first hunt for a large, round cake box (Figure 1), or a deeper oblong box or square box (Figure 2) such as florists sometimes use as candy boxes.

Usually such a container doesn't have a very strong bottom, so place it on a tray or platter. Then plant the garden.

Computers Will Help Keep Stores Stocked

One in 4 Shoppers Leaves Because Merchandise Is Out

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The customer may always be right but in about one out of every four trips to the department store she leaves empty-handed because it was out of what she wanted to buy.

Coming to her rescue is that all-around handyman of the Soaring Sixties — the machine. Computer makers say this modern helper of industry is all set and eager to help the customer. And if this streamlining of the retailing business works as planned, the shopper eventually should be able to dictate, through her purchases, the merchandise her favorite store will carry — and be sure to have in stock.

Valiant Effort Not Fast Enough For New Mother

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Mary E. Treadwell, 32, of Washington knew her time was due at 4:30 a.m. Sunday during Washington's 12 - inch snowstorm. Neighbors called police.

A police car and Fire Department ambulance, dispatched to take Mrs. Treadwell to the hospital, got stuck on the city's snow-clogged streets.

Another alert was sent. A fire truck reached the Treadwell home by 11 a.m. but became stuck in front of her house.

While neighbors cleared a path, firemen began carrying Mrs. Treadwell to an intersection where an ambulance was waiting.

The baby, Allison, was born at 12:30 p.m. a few blocks from the Treadwell home. A half hour later both mother and baby were taken to the hospital in good condition.

Susan Zeman, a junior at Reedsville High School, has been selected to participate with the United States of America High School Band. The band will travel throughout the United States and Canada for four weeks this summer. Susan is the solo clarinetist.

Refused Husband's Assistance

Waupaca Mother Builds 'Doll' a 5-Foot House

WAUPACA — Six-year-old Linda Baitinger has a doll house that is the envy of her playmates, thanks to her mother's carpentry skill.

Mrs. Duane Baitinger, 1003 Berlin St., worked three months before Christmas constructing the five-foot high, six-room doll house. The project was strictly Mrs. Baitinger's. She refused any assistance from her husband.

She not only built the house but made almost all the furnishings. A few pieces of furniture were purchased for the living room and she even remodeled these.

The rooms are carpeted except the kitchen which has inlay. For illumination, Mrs. Baitinger used an old string of Christmas tree lights. Each room has at least one light. Even the fireplace in the living room, complete with logs, is lighted to give a warming glow.

Even a TV The living room is furnished down to the finest detail. There are lamps, bookshelves, with books, end tables and even a television set and hi-fi.

Mrs. Baitinger made the top bedroom a duplicate of Linda's room. Copied the floor plan for the bathroom from the family home, complete with all accessories.

The kitchen is separated from the living room by a miniature planter, again all handmade. Mrs. Baitinger built in a stove and oven. Fashioned a refrigerator and kitchen cabinets.

It was her first venture in model house building.

In one of the bedrooms she built an oversized wardrobe closet to accommodate the many sets of doll clothes in Linda's collection. The same bedroom also has a built in chest of drawers.

Imitation Brick The front of the house is imitation brick and to add realism she built window boxes and added shrubbery. Linda's love for playing with larger dolls gave Mrs. Baitinger the idea to build the house. She said she was unable to buy a doll house large enough, so she decided to build one. Some of her ideas came from the "Marry Poppins" show.

Mrs. Baitinger is secretary of the Waupaca City Bowling Association and in order to keep the big secret from Linda until Christmas, she told the little girl she was building a cabinet for association records.

"It was one way of keeping Linda out of the basement," Mrs. Baitinger said.

Vocational School Revamp Possible by '68, Say Officials

State Panel Feels Shorter Time Period Might Arouse Resistance

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Reorganization of the state-wide vocational school system to provide for regional rather than local administrative districts could be achieved by 1968 instead of 1970, State Department of Vocational and Adult Education officials told a legislative interim study committee Friday.

A recently passed state law requires the new districts be established by 1970.

But the committee voted down as premature a motion to recommend to the Legislature the advancement of the effective date of the program which contemplates the creation of about 20 districts to cover all of the taxable areas of Wisconsin.

Not Fully Aware County boards and others to be involved in the sizeable reorganization program are not yet fully aware of the magnitude of the program, and to advance its effective date now might arouse resistance and alarm, members said.

An earlier completion of the reorganization was asked by Assemblyman Ray Heinzen of Marshfield, who indicated that the state planners in charge may need such pressure in order to work in timely fashion. But his motion was defeated on a 13 to 3 vote.

State officials repeated their earlier pledge to have available early in July of this year a preliminary blueprint for the organization of all of the territory of the state for a new district vocational school program. But Assemblyman David Obey of Wausau, one of the principal authors of the 1965 reorganization legislation, warned that the legislature may want to make "reasonable" deviations from the plans drawn by the state officials, in the event there is resistance about the apportionment of territory in some sections.

Dropout Problem

The committee heard a battery of specialists discuss the high school dropout problem but got few specific leads for remedial action on a problem that is less urgent in Wisconsin than in most states of the country.

About one in ten of the high school students in Wisconsin drops out of school before graduation. Suggestions for improving the record ranged from better guidance and social work programs in the schools, including the elementary grades, better teaching, and a new law denying driver licenses to applicants who have not finished high school. The latter came from Henry Weinlick, executive secretary of the Wisconsin Education Association.

Image of Business District Key to Clintonville Growth

Planning Report Claims Gains In Population Will Stem From Retail Sector, Not Industry

CLINTONVILLE — Population growth depends on the image of the business district, Max Anderson, Madison, Planning Consultant, told planning commission members after a preliminary report on the "Economy of Clintonville," a part of the 71 Comprehensive Plan.

"What the future brings will not depend on mechanization but the more attractive you make the city," he said. "The growth could exceed any employment growth."

He noted that the area, which comprises parts of Waupaca, Shawano and Outagamie counties, has a regional economy and is highly mobile with workers seeking employment within a 50-mile radius from their residences.

Anderson said the industries of Clintonville draw most of their labor force, the retail and service establishments derive most of their trade, the local newspaper obtains most of its subscribers and the local hospital gets most of its patients from the three-county area.

Other Future Reports

The preliminary report on economy is the second presented by Anderson. The first covered population. Other phases to be considered are community facilities plan, land-use inventory and structural use analysis, working on a downtown development plan analysis, and a separate report on traffic and traffic circulation, and also independent reports on zoning, sub-division and capital planning. Anderson said as additional studies are compiled, he will come back with changes in these previous reports.

The three-county region follows the state and national trend in undergoing a rapid transition from a predominantly agricultural orientation to one that emphasizes a combination of economic activities including agriculture, industry and commerce. While agriculture has not declined in terms of the value of its output, the report states, it has receded from its former pre-eminence as the area's major employer to a position of importance second to manufacturing.

Agriculture Workers Down In comparison, agriculture in 1940 accounted for about a third of the employed labor force of the three counties and by 1960 its share had dropped to about half that importance, about 17 per cent of the total. In addition to declining in its relative importance, agriculture also declined in terms of the absolute number of employed workers—from 16,174 in 1940 to 10,058, a drop of 6,116 or 37 per cent in 1960. Large-scale mechanization of farming operations is the explanation for the decrease, rather than any decline in the value of output.

In that same period, manufacturing was gaining and almost doubled its levels of employment in the 20-year period, increasing from 9,876 in 1940 to 19,146 in 1960. In the same period, the wholesale and retail trade group increased its total by a quarter, services (business, personal, etc.), transportation, communications and utilities, by roughly a third, and construction by about a half.

Diversified Industry The region's manufacturing activity is strongly diversified. Industries with the largest employment, (more than 1,000 workers) include furniture, lumber and wood products, machinery, motor vehicle equipment, textile mill products, food and kindred products, printing and publishing and pulp and paper. These industries accounted for about 90 per cent of the three-county manufacturing total. Over the past decade the groups showing the strongest gains were machinery, motor vehicles, food and kindred products, printing and publishing, and

Appleton Asks Chances For Getting Federal Aid For Winnebago Project

City officials made initial inquiry Friday on Appleton's chances for obtaining a $1,857,000 federal grant to expand the existing water plant and tap Lake Winnebago for a new supply.

Mayor Clarence Mitchell announced he and Public Works Director Robert W. Bues had signed the necessary federal forms and mailed them to Washington. It has been estimated it will cost $2.5 million dollars to add to the treatment facilities and extend a pipeline from the lake, following a U. S. 10 route.

Firms Working on Plans Two Chicago engineering firms are working on preliminary plans for the two-stage project and are expected to have them ready for presentation to the council and water commission this spring.

Mitchell said copies of the inquiry forms were also sent to Sens. Gaylord Nelson and William Proxmire (D-Wisconsin) and Rep. John Byrnes (R-Green Bay).

Mitchell indicated he has been in contact with federal authorities through the regional office at Chicago. Should the City of Appleton qualify for consideration for a federal public works grant, additional forms and a formal application for funds will have to be made by the city council.

75-25 Cost Sharing Under the federal program, the city would pay 25 per cent of the total cost of the water expansion project while the federal government would pay 75 per cent.

Mitchell and Bues wrote federal officials and included information on the forms to the effect the city intends to proceed with the expansion of the water filtration plant and construction of a new raw water intake and transmission line. The improvement, city officials said, would result in a new and greatly improved raw water source and expand existing plant facilities. They indicated the proposed Lake Winnebago project would meet present and peak demands and future requirements of the community to the year 1985.

Teen-Agers End Swedish Trip

CHICAGO (AP) — From the teeming housing projects of Chicago to the hearts and homes of Sweden they went — 53 Negro teenagers. Now, three weeks later, they are back, with wider eyes and loftier hopes.

They were welcomed by the king of Sweden, Gustaf VI, and fussed over in Swedish homes. They skied in the hills near Stockholm and mingled as people with people—instead of as Negroes with whites.

The 53 youngsters went to Sweden because their Swedish-born counselor and friend, Ingrid Kostubala, wanted them to go. Her husband, Dr. Thaddeus Kostubala, is Chicago's mental health director. Pan American Airways contributed all the air fares.

Steiger Enters Sixth District GOP Battle

State Assemblyman To Work for Party Caucus Endorsement

OSHKOSH — Assemblyman William Steiger today announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for Sixth District congressman.

The 27-year-old three term assemblyman said he is seeking the GOP's sixth district caucus endorsement. If the caucus endorses another candidate, "I shall support him with all the resources at my command," he stated.

Jack Steinhilber, Oshkosh, has also announced his candidacy. He unsuccessfully contested William Van Pelt in the 1964 primary. Van Pelt was defeated in the November election by John Race, D-Fond du Lac.

To Attend Caucuses

During the next two months until the March 29 district caucus at West Bend, Steiger plans to appear at each of the seven county caucuses in the district.

These are the Fond du Lac county caucus Feb. 8, Calumet County, Feb. 16, Winnebago County, Feb. 22, Green Lake County, Feb. 24, Ozaukee County, Feb. 28, Washington County, March 3, and Sheboygan County, March 10.

"I will put my views on record at every opportunity," Steiger said this morning in opening his campaign "to return representation in congress to all of the people in this district."

Support of Party

"I think any Republican candidate should seek first the support of his party, and I would be proud to carry the endorsement of the working Republicans of this district; the people who must be depended upon to get out the vote and to win support for any political candidate."

Need Full Story

Commenting on national and international issues, Steiger said "the times are too perilous for anything less than a full disclosure of what we're up against in Southeast Asia. We are willing to make any sacrifice to defend our country if we are given the facts. But we do need to be told the full story."

He added that "consumers are entitled to know why the prices paid for food and clothing are the highest in history and farmers are to know why they continue to receive less than their fair share for what they sell and pay higher prices for what they buy."

He warned that "the pursuit of excellence requires not only an informed people, it requires a well educated people. There is no more important issue confronting our nation than the attainment of quality education for every child and young person in America."

Steiger has served on 10 committees in his six years in the State Legislature, including the chairmanship in 1963 of the elections committee of the Assembly and also of the interim election laws study committee of the Legislative Council. He is on the public welfare and elections committee of the 1965 Legislature and secretary on the interim election laws study committee.

Received Awards

A native of Oshkosh, Steiger was graduated in 1960 from the University of Wisconsin where he majored in economics. He is married to the former Janet Dempsey of Oshkosh. He received the National Young American medal for service from President Dwight D. Eisenhower for his activities in 1955, which included two years as president of the Oshkosh Youth Council, Badger Boys State governor, and state chairman of the Teens Against Polio in which he organized young people all over Wisconsin to take part in the fund-raising March of Dimes drive.

He served as national college chairman for the Young Republicans from 1959 to 1961 and also was vice president of the Wisconsin Student Association while at the university. In 1964 he was named one of the state's most outstanding young men. He also served as state chairman for the YMCA's "Youth in Government" two-day model legislature held in each of the north central area states. He was co-chairman of the Bethel Home fund raising drive in Oshkosh and is a member of the board of directors of Bethel Home.

'Flats' Area

AAA to Study City's Industrial Parking

The Wisconsin Division of the American Automobile Association (AAA) has agreed to make a parking study in the industrial area of Appleton commonly known as the "flats."

Mayor Clarence Mitchell made the disclosure Friday after receiving a letter from William L. Marvin, director of traffic engineering for the AAA.

Mitchell previously wrote to the AAA to get some idea whether the organization would make an appraisal of the parking needs in the "flats."

Asked if there has been pressure brought to bear to provide municipal parking in the industrial area, Mitchell said there had been none.

There has been a persistent rumor at city hall that a few industries in the "flats" would welcome municipal parking there before a parking structure in Soldiers Square.

"I just thought it would be good planning to take a look at the parking requirements in the industrial area," Mitchell said.

"We would be most pleased to provide this engineering assistance and will contact you as soon as our schedule permits to arrange a mutually convenient time for a discussion of this problem," Marvin wrote the mayor.

Businesses Lose Millions of Dollars To Frauds Run by Organized Crime

A national credit management executive spoke of the movement of organized crime in commercial fields and called for cooperation of businesses to deter its spread in a talk at the Conway Motor Hotel Thursday.

Robert L. Roper, New York, executive vice president of the National Association of Credit Management, spoke at the mid-winter dinner meeting of the Northern Wisconsin-Michigan unit of the association.

"The taking of merchandise through fraudulent means is draining more than $2 million a day from the nation's businesses," he declared.

Roper said that much of this has been traced directly to the entry of organized crime syndicates into the commercial fields.

Crime Pattern

He noted the pattern where criminal elements purchase a well-established business and then greatly increase the orders before the creditors know of the change of ownership. "Before creditors can collect on those orders, the merchandise goes out the back door," he said.

"The business folds, the books and records are destroyed and the new owners either cannot be located, or, if they are found, plead large gambling losses or some other equally lame excuse for the sudden disappearance of assets," he stated.

Roper said that often the scheme is repeated by the same group in some other part of the country a few months later.

"The Justice Department estimates that more than 200 bankruptcies each year have their origins in crime syndicate operations," he said.

He stated that the increased involvement of organized crime in such schemes is due to the "greater difficulty of detection of planned bankruptcies."

Investigate Cases. Roper said there are now about 40 suspect fraud cases under investigation by the association's fraud prevention department. In 12 of these cases, one or more persons have been indicted in the federal courts within the past nine months.

"If further encroachment of organized crime into the commercial field is to be effectively deterred, it is imperative for credit executives to coordinate their efforts through their credit associations at the local, state and national levels for the early detection of suspect fraud cases," he stated.

He called the credit departments "the first line of defense" against fraud since they are in the best position to note at first hand any suspicious sudden changes from the normal payment and purchasing patterns of their debtor accounts.

Students Work Too Hard, Red Chinese Claims

University President Says Burden Must be Eased for Balance

By JOHN RODERICK

TOKYO (AP) — A Red Chinese educator says students are being worked too hard both in the classroom and in outside extracurricular activities, including political lessons.

President Kuang Ya-ming of Nanking University says the burden must be eased "to coordinate labor with rest more satisfactorily so as to improve moral, intellectual and physical development."

Kuang, who is first secretary of the university's Communist Committee, made his criticism in Peking's Kuang Ming Jih Pao, a paper of non-Communist political parties that are allowed to function in China. A copy of the paper was received in Tokyo.

This criticism of the Communist educational system is one of the sharpest and most trenchant in recent years. He presumably included high schools as well as universities in his critique.

Serious Problem

"We must now seriously grapple with this problem," he said. "Because of excessive class work, the physical condition of a great number of students in many schools has been seriously impaired. Does this not sound an emergency warning demanding our serious attention and thought?"

Urging a letup, he observed "departing or not proceeding from this ultimate objective: all kinds of school work will become purposeless and meaningless as things that drift aimlessly."

Kuang listed these four aspects of Chinese education:

1. "Excessive extracurricular sports, cultural, recreational and group activities."

2. "Excessive political lessons and other activities including participation in meetings of different types and performances of unscripted labor."

Too Many Subjects

3. "Excessive classroom subjects, complicated content of teaching, improperly conducted lectures, and unscheduled examinations."

4. "The excessively grand scale of running schools and overcrowding of students with the result that general affairs and support services cannot keep pace with the mounting work load. This affects improvement of study and living conditions of students causing nervous tensions and imposing additional burdens on the students and thus impairing their health."

Kuang proposed more part-work, part-study, part-farming part-study schools.

Kuang said his "rest with labor" solution to the student problems coincided with the thinking of Communist Chairman Mao Tse-tung. He said it was not a matter of expediency, but one fraught with far-reaching strategic significance.

He implied that if the present system is allowed to continue, no all-around development of the Communist individual will be possible and the end product will be a person whose "mold is mechanically and passively cast."

Congress Tries To Realign Tax Withholding

Sliding Deduction Might Overcome Waivering System

By EDMOND LE BRETON

WASHINGTON (AP) — As every income taxpayer knows withholding is never perfect.

In many cases there is a refund due from the government or unhappily something owed the government after the annual return has been sweated out.

A major effort is now on in Congress to improve the system which has been getting more and more out of kilter with the passing years because withholding is based on lower bracket tax rates and incomes in the country keep going up. In 1964 for example most U.S. families had incomes above $6,500 — and the median has gone up since.

If the slice taken out of even body's paychecks is based on minimum bracket rates and more and more wage earners move up into higher brackets there is bound to be trouble. Thus has been the situation. Moreover, the tax changes of the past two years have cranked more complications into the system. Since the income tax reduction was staged over two years there had to be a special computation for the first year. It turned out to be a bit low and last year many taxpayers who thought their liability had to dig into their pockets to make up a difference.

New Deduction — Moreover a new minimum standard deduction benefiting lowest-income taxpayers was

J. E. Huff to Head Cancer Crusade In Outagamie

John E. Huff, 525 Sunset Drive, has been named chairman of the 1966 Outagamie County Cancer Crusade according to Mrs. Orvie Buhl, board president of the county unit of the American Cancer Society.

Goal for the crusade which will be conducted in April, is $21,935. Money collected will be used for research, service and education.

Huff is special representative for Equitable Life Assurance Society. He has served as memorial chairman and is a member of the local unit of the Cancer Society.

As a result of these and other factors the Treasury estimates, only about 12 million of the 63 million employees who pay their tax essentially by withholding come within $10 a year of having the correct amount withheld. Of the remainder, almost 17 million now have too much withheld and have to file for refunds, while more than 14 million have not enough withheld and have to come up with extra payment.

In connection with President Johnson's tax program the Treasury asked Congress to enact a new set of withholding rules. If withholding were graduated like the tax rates themselves, this change the Treasury said would increase to all years there had to be a special computation for the first year. It turned out to be a bit low and last year many taxpayers who thought their liability had to dig into their pockets to make up a difference.

The House Ways and Means Committee looked over the Treasury tables and several members — enough to indicate the mood of the committee — said they thought they could do better. Fine said the Treasury in effect go ahead and try. This is where the matter stands while the committee finishes its hearings. It will probably go to work on legislation Feb. 7.

The committee presumably will try to work out ways to reduce the take from the middle and higher income paychecks.

Record Year Shaping Up for Travel by LBJ

President's Surgery, Congressional Work Limited Movement

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP) — This looks like a big year for presidential travel — to all parts of the country and, perhaps, to points overseas.

President Johnson set a record in the 1964 campaign year for travel by a chief executive. But his wanderings slumped sharply in 1965 because of his Oct. 8 surgery and because earlier he felt compelled to stick close to Washington at a time when Congress faced a heavy work load and he was confronted by hard choices on Viet Nam.

Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic crisis also put an end to presidential hopes of visiting Europe, Latin America and — had things worked out better — the Soviet Union.

Johnson didn't even get to attend the London funeral of Sir Winston Churchill, though he badly wanted to go. An executive flu bug put him in bed for nearly a week.

Travel Possibilities — But this is a new year — and another important election year. Johnson and his White House aides again are beginning to canvass travel possibilities for the months ahead.

The President feels that especially after his surgery, he needs to visit the voters in widely scattered parts of the country.

Presumably an influencing factor in his own popularity rating as measured by public opinion polls. The year-end polls showed he had slumped a bit in popular estimation, though his approval rating still topped 60 per cent. Johnson attributed this to his enforced inactivity after surgery.

In considering future travel, however, Johnson is not concerned solely with his personal popularity. There are several compelling reasons to undertake a new meet-the-voters effort.

—Congress will be dealing with a new basketful of Johnson programs, some of which the President would like to promote at the grass roots.

Fund Raising

—Money must be raised for Democratic campaigns this fall, and Johnson is the party's biggest drawing card at $100-a-plate dinners.

—The President knows that — with rare exceptions, the party in power loses ground in off-year congressional elections. He doesn't want that to happen in November if personal campaigning might help tip the balance.

Last year Johnson had hoped to finish strong in the travel department. When he got word in September that gall bladder surgery was needed, he and his staff were deeply involved in planning autumn appearances in all parts of the country — as far west as Hawaii.

Dinner Plans

All these plans had to be scrapped. And many of those who had hoped to lure Johnson to their precincts last fall now are pressing to claim rain checks in 1966. This is especially true of party fund raisers who had to cancel out ambitious dinner plans.

It is doubtful however that 1966 will have a direct political aura. As in the first months of 1964 Johnson seems much more likely to seek out nonpolitical projects or address influential nonpartisan audiences.

The straightaway politicking will come later.

Very much up in the air at this point are possible journeys abroad. Johnson would like to visit Western Europe perhaps in the spring, but no decisions have been made. He wants to get to Latin America when a good opportunity arises.

Ignorance of Medicare Costly to Elderly

BY SYLVIA PORTER
 By the Social Security Administration's latest count, only 10.1 million elderly citizens—54 per cent of those eligible—have enrolled in the new $3 a month voluntary doctor insurance plan which, starting July 1, will cover $1.1 billion in doctor bill insurance annually. To date, more than 11 million citizens aged

Porter
 65 or over have flatly turned down the offer. About 7 million have not yet responded either way despite the federal government's massive "sales" drive and the repeated urging of employers, physicians, private insurance companies, etc.
 The tragedy is that millions are failing to sign up for the voluntary program because of gross misunderstanding or gross ignorance of what the insurance actually would do for them. By failing to sign up, they could be making an enormous financial sacrifice

What Studies Show
 Studies just completed by Social Security and other agencies, both public and private, reveal these facts:
 —A vast majority of those whose financial condition is most precarious are precisely those who already have said "no" or who have said nothing about their intentions to enroll.

Computers Will Help Keep Stores Stocked

One in 4 Shoppers Leaves Because Merchandise Is Out

By SAM DAWSON
 AP Business News Analyst
 NEW YORK (AP) — The customer may always be right but in about one out of every four trips to the department store she leaves empty-handed because it was out of what she wanted to buy.
 Coming to her rescue is that all-around handyman of the Soaring Sixties — the machine. Computer makers say this modern helper of industry is all set and eager to help the customer. And if this streamlining of the retailing business works as planned, the shopper eventually should be able to dictate, through her purchases, the merchandise her favorite store will carry — and be sure to have in stock.
 The new program is based on a study of more than 30,000 dict future trends of merchandisers in typical department store in stock, based on past stores. This showed that what sales history. They can tell the retail trade calls "never more accurately and quickly outs" — such staples as men's which fashion items, such as socks and women's lingerie — women's dresses, are selling and were actually out of stock in which are not. Managed Inventory
 So the computer makers saw a big opening. And now IBM will offer a set of 40 computer programs to help the retailer manage his inventory. It will also let computers balance stocks to the projected needs of customers — and also react quickly to the unexpected tastes in consumer buying trends.

 — Nearly one-third of the "no" group reported that the reason they had turned down the offer was that they couldn't afford even the cut-rate $3 a month premium for this Medicare plan — apparently unaware that many local welfare agencies and some private employers have offered to pick up the tab for these very poor.
 Biggest Tragedy
 But the biggest tragedy is that more than half of those who said "no" to Medicare's 7-month enrollment period (the month of your birthday until three months after it) on the grounds that they already have private insurance — Even fewer realize that unless they enroll by March 31 or some other means to cover they will not get another chance doctor bills. A majority do not to enroll until Oct. 1, 1967, and realize that virtually all private and company health insurance policies are to be drastically changed — or eliminated al-

True. One husband, whose wife was bankrupting him, sent her to a psychiatrist. Analysis showed that the wife had developed from her father a strong hatred toward all men, of which she was not aware. Her extravagance was her way of expressing this hostility toward the man she married. Understanding it made it possible for her to overcome her extravagance. This is just one of the facts of married life that you must face. There are many others, however. For a complete picture of this matter, read our popular booklet, "Facing the Facts of Married Life." ## Live Within Your Income

 Consultant in Money Management
 Dear Miss Feeley:
 We have two sons going into the Army this month. The 19-year-old is a happy-go-lucky, generous person — generous to a fault — and has only $115 in his savings account. The younger boy is a naturally thrifty person. He has fun, but somehow manages to get along with lots of unnecessary things. By consistently saving, he now has $1,052 in the bank.
 Each has only a $1,000 life insurance policy. What I want to know is: will they automatically be given more insurance when they enter the service? I understand this is at a much lower rate than if they buy it commercially and the premium is taken out of their monthly wages.
 Also, does the government send home a portion of their wages if they ask for that arrangement? How much would be a fair amount for me to put into their savings account each month?
 Although their wages will be low in the Army, isn't it true that they have the advantage of shopping at the PX?
 "M'd West Mother"
 Dear Mother:
 Your sons can take advantage of GI insurance, once they are in the service — $10,000 maximum per man. It isn't automatic. They have the privilege of taking it or not. But since the cost is low — $2 a month deducted from their pay — they'll certainly want it.
 Base pay is $87.90 for the first four months after that, $93.90. The Army isn't going to budget the pay checks, so it's up to you and your sons to decide how much they can send home. And they'll have to do the sending. As for what would turn — and tell you quickly he fair, wait awhile and let He said that even large and when you're wrong — maybe it circumstances determine this well-managed department can figure out what your wife wants and when she is likely to PX will save them some money. But remember your sons will be paying for haircuts, snacks, postage, insurance and recreation. A car would be another item. If they are content to stay on the base that will keep a little money in their pockets. But if they go into town for fun they aren't going to have much change left over. I suggest that instead of trying to put a figure on their savings, let them tell you. That thrifty younger son will figure it out.

 Dear Miss Feeley:
 Your recent article on getting more wear out of men's suits was interesting, and prompts me to pass on this suggestion which has worked well for me. When the edge of a vest gets worn, I buy five feet of binding braid, a half inch wide, in a suitable color. Then I take it to my tailor and ask him to bind the edge that gets worn from buttoning and unbuttoning. The result is a "new" vest.
 H. H. Portland, Maine
 A lot of other men will say thanks for that tip. And maybe you can use another. H. A. M., of Durant, Iowa, writes:
 "Most men carry their wallet in their left hip pocket. Eventually they wear a hole in the seat of their trousers.
 "Here's what I do to all of my trousers: take a 2-inch square piece of adhesive tape and stick it to the inside of my trousers at the lower right side of the pocket. This prevents the wallet from wearing the fabric."

together — on July 1, when Medicare benefits begin. The revised plans will be designed to pick up where Medicare leaves off — but not to provide basic doctor bill coverage.
 Almost certain to be cut out from private health policies for the elderly as of July 1 are these costs to be provided under the Medicare doctor insurance program: physicians' fees for office, home and hospital or nursing home consultations and services, psychiatrist's consultation fees, up to 100 home visits by skilled nurses, social workers, therapists (in addition to the maximum 100 visits provided under the Medicare hospital plan); ambulance costs, surgical dressings; radioisotope treatment; artificial limbs and similar medical hardware.
 Instead, virtually all private health insurers will offer new, non-duplicating policies built around what the Medicare doctor insurance plan DOES NOT cover.
 Obviously, it is imperative that you find out at once what is scheduled to happen to the health insurance you now own when Medicare's voluntary doctor insurance becomes effective. Also alert your elderly relatives or friends to the importance of an immediate check.

To Your Good Health

Purity of Bloodstream Not Involved in Periods

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M.D.
 Dear Dr. Molner: A discussion has been raging at our house for years. One argument is that a young woman's bloodstream becomes more and more impure as the time between her periods progresses, and when she has her period, these impurities are lost. The contention is that she had the forces which tell a bear when to hibernate for the winter, a rose bush to have occasional seed globes, or a morning glory to open in the sunshine.
 Headaches, nervousness, blemishes or other side effects may occur before a menstrual period, but most women do not have these problems. True, most women gain a bit of weight, usually a pound or two, occasionally more than that, as the hormones rise and fluid is retained in the tissues. But it's normal.
 Yes, hormones control this. Yet hormones is just a word to describe certain complicated chemicals which are a part of life. We can isolate and accumulate hormones, and use them, but we have yet to understand exactly why and how they work. We know a lot about chemistry, but we don't know it all.
 Dear Dr. Molner: Does sinus trouble cause sweats and weak spells that last a few minutes? My doctor can't account for these spells. — Mrs. A.B.
 Sinus disease, if it involves acute infection, can make you very ill, but this primarily involves fever, pain and considerable nasal discharge. It is unlikely that the spells you describe would stem from that. I'd have the doctor keep on searching for the real cause — and there are many possible ones.
 Dear Dr. Molner: I do housework for a lady who has glaucoma. Is it contagious? — J.B.
 No, you are in no danger.
 For a comprehensive discussion of how to cope with the change of life, including scores of pertinent questions and their answers, send for my booklet, "Make Menopause Easier," enclosing 25 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to cover cost of printing and handling.

To Your Good Health

Purity of Bloodstream Not Involved in Periods

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M.D.
 Dear Dr. Molner: A discussion has been raging at our house for years. One argument is that a young woman's bloodstream becomes more and more impure as the time between her periods progresses, and when she has her period, these impurities are lost. The contention is that she had the forces which tell a bear when to hibernate for the winter, a rose bush to have occasional seed globes, or a morning glory to open in the sunshine.
 Headaches, nervousness, blemishes or other side effects may occur before a menstrual period, but most women do not have these problems. True, most women gain a bit of weight, usually a pound or two, occasionally more than that, as the hormones rise and fluid is retained in the tissues. But it's normal.
 Yes, hormones control this. Yet hormones is just a word to describe certain complicated chemicals which are a part of life. We can isolate and accumulate hormones, and use them, but we have yet to understand exactly why and how they work. We know a lot about chemistry, but we don't know it all.
 Dear Dr. Molner: Does sinus trouble cause sweats and weak spells that last a few minutes? My doctor can't account for these spells. — Mrs. A.B.
 Sinus disease, if it involves acute infection, can make you very ill, but this primarily involves fever, pain and considerable nasal discharge. It is unlikely that the spells you describe would stem from that. I'd have the doctor keep on searching for the real cause — and there are many possible ones.
 Dear Dr. Molner: I do housework for a lady who has glaucoma. Is it contagious? — J.B.
 No, you are in no danger.
 For a comprehensive discussion of how to cope with the change of life, including scores of pertinent questions and their answers, send for my booklet, "Make Menopause Easier," enclosing 25 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to cover cost of printing and handling.

Mother Concerned About Son, Money Management

BY MARY FEELEY
 Consultant in Money Management
 Dear Miss Feeley:
 We have two sons going into the Army this month. The 19-year-old is a happy-go-lucky, generous person — generous to a fault — and has only $115 in his savings account. The younger boy is a naturally thrifty person. He has fun, but somehow manages to get along with lots of unnecessary things. By consistently saving, he now has $1,052 in the bank.
 Each has only a $1,000 life insurance policy. What I want to know is: will they automatically be given more insurance when they enter the service? I understand this is at a much lower rate than if they buy it commercially and the premium is taken out of their monthly wages.
 Also, does the government send home a portion of their wages if they ask for that arrangement? How much would be a fair amount for me to put into their savings account each month?
 Although their wages will be low in the Army, isn't it true that they have the advantage of shopping at the PX?
 "M'd West Mother"
 Dear Mother:
 Your sons can take advantage of GI insurance, once they are in the service — $10,000 maximum per man. It isn't automatic. They have the privilege of taking it or not. But since the cost is low — $2 a month deducted from their pay — they'll certainly want it.
 Base pay is $87.90 for the first four months after that, $93.90. The Army isn't going to budget the pay checks, so it's up to you and your sons to decide how much they can send home. And they'll have to do the sending. As for what would turn — and tell you quickly he fair, wait awhile and let He said that even large and when you're wrong — maybe it circumstances determine this well-managed department can figure out what your wife wants and when she is likely to PX will save them some money. But remember your sons will be paying for haircuts, snacks, postage, insurance and recreation. A car would be another item. If they are content to stay on the base that will keep a little money in their pockets. But if they go into town for fun they aren't going to have much change left over. I suggest that instead of trying to put a figure on their savings, let them tell you. That thrifty younger son will figure it out.

 Dear Miss Feeley:
 Your recent article on getting more wear out of men's suits was interesting, and prompts me to pass on this suggestion which has worked well for me. When the edge of a vest gets worn, I buy five feet of binding braid, a half inch wide, in a suitable color. Then I take it to my tailor and ask him to bind the edge that gets worn from buttoning and unbuttoning. The result is a "new" vest.
 H. H. Portland, Maine
 A lot of other men will say thanks for that tip. And maybe you can use another. H. A. M., of Durant, Iowa, writes:
 "Most men carry their wallet in their left hip pocket. Eventually they wear a hole in the seat of their trousers.
 "Here's what I do to all of my trousers: take a 2-inch square piece of adhesive tape and stick it to the inside of my trousers at the lower right side of the pocket. This prevents the wallet from wearing the fabric."

Make a Garden in a Plastic Box as a Gift for a Friend

BY CAPPY DICK
 Over the bottom of the box scatter some charcoal to keep the soil sweet. On top of the fond of growing plants, a nice gravel half an inch deep. Then plastic terrarium. A terrarium spread a deep layer of black is a transparent container with dirt mixed with a little sand and a cover on it which allows only some decayed leaves. You may shape the soil into valleys and hills, if you wish.
 In the soil plant the seeds of some small woodland plants such as sedum and violets. A florist can help you select the right seeds. Also plant some small ferns. You may even plant grass seed.
 When the seeds have been planted, water the garden and water it just enough day by day to keep the air in the terrarium moist. Make a small hole in the lid to allow some fresh air to enter, but not too much. If too much moisture gathers on the plastic, remove the lid for a while.

Lawrence Pianist to Give Friday Recital

Robert Below of Conservatory Faculty Chooses Famous Ravel Memorial Suite

Pianist Robert Below, Lawrence University assistant professor of music, has selected "The Tomb of Couperin," pays literature of the 18th through homage to the great French the 20th century for his recital composer of the 18th century. at 8 p.m. Friday in Lawrence Memorial Chapel

Below

The program consists of Le Tombeau de Couperin, by Ravel, Sonata in D Major, by Haydn, Barcarolle No. 1 Opus 26, Prelude No. 3, Opus 103, and Nocturne No. 6 Opus 63 all by Chopin. The program is a memorial to the French who fell in World War I. Each of its six movements is dedicated to one or more of the composers of high drama.

While this period is reflected in the movement titles such as "Prelude," "Fugue," and "Menuet," Ravel made no attempt to imitate the baroque style, but instead wrote in his own precise elegant way.

Each of the program's other works is highly characteristic of its composer. Haydn's sonata is a splendid example of the classical form; Chopin's ballade, considered by many to be the finest of four he wrote, dates from the period of the famous A-flat Polonaise, the Polonaise-Fantasy, the B minor Sonata and many of the best mazurkas; the Faure pieces, while not standard in the American concert repertory, have had exceptional popularity in France.

Below has been on the Conservatory faculty since 1934. The recital is his first at Lawrence this season and is the third since coming here. Of particular interest on his program is the Ravel suite, a 1917 work written as a memorial to the French who fell in World War I.

Each of its six movements is dedicated to one or more of the composers of high drama.

Comedienne Phyllis Diller appears in Appleton on the Gallery of Arts Variety Theater series. The stage show at Appleton High School starts at 8:20 p.m. Thursday.

He also played two organ recitals at St. Thomas Episcopal Church, Menasha, in December.

Below earned a bachelor's and master's degree in music at the University of Louisville. In 1959-60 he was a Fulbright Fellow at the Hochschule fur Musik Cologne, Germany, and received the school's concert diploma.

Before coming to Lawrence he taught at William Woods College, Fulton, Mo., and the University of California, Davis.

Golden Globe Awards Head Andy's Show

BY TV SCOUT

8-9 (Channels 4-5) — The Andy Williams Show provides the setting for the Hollywood Foreign Press Assn. to hand out its Golden Globe Awards for excellence in films and television. The program broadcast live from the Hollywood Roosevelt Ballroom, promises to deliver many of the hot personalities of the day. Cheryl Miller, the cutie on the new series Daktari is custodian of the awards. Entertainment will be handled by Andy, who will sing the five songs nominated (Color).

6-30-7 (Channels 4-5) — Hula Balon brings back Frankie Avalon for his fourth appearance as host and to sing ditties like "Rampart Street Parade." For this session the Ago-go spirit has been somewhat subdued to provide room for Frankie's ballads and those of guests The Brothers Four and Jody Rohn. The only rock 'n' roll enthusiasts are The Miracles (Color).

7-30-8 (Channels 2-7-12) — The Lucy Show comes up with one of its best episodes of the season. It's a wild, funny spoof on television and soap operas in particular. Lucille Ball is at her outrageous best as she weeps and wails over her favorite program, Camden Cove, and then resorts to a batch of masquerades including one as a Japanese gardener to keep her favorite TV actor on the air (Color).

7-30-8 (Channels 4-5) — The third episode of Dr. Kildare's current four-part series provides plenty of tense scenes involving Richard Chamberlain as he scrapes the bloodhounds of a troubled community to find the cause of an epidemic. He is especially anxious now that Beah Richards, a hermit who may or may not have a fortune stuffed in her mattress, is beaten to death (Color).

8-8-30 (Channels 2-7-12) — The Andy Griffin Show is highly recommended for the folks who daydream about western heroism. Although there are many amusing moments in this episode, which has Pat Hingle as a promoter of a Wild West show, most of it is a good reason to howl at the separation of the two main characters (Color).

8-10 (Channels 4-5) — R. F. — Your Life is a Drama. The good dramatics, good news, and we know how Dan Ryan has a year or two to live and whatever measures he can get out of his life are necessary. But since he's not dying, time is passing like a dream. A stage play has been starting around a table and he's for the day of it (Color).

9-10 (Channels 2-7-12) — Hollywood Talent Scouts has a time telephoned Lawrence Harvey, Ann Blythe and Barbra Streisand, introducing a flock of young talents and a special feature which involves Vincent Price painting character studies of some surprise guests (Color).

9-10 (Channels 11-6-9) — Fun

New Satellite To Photograph Weather Patterns

CAPL KENNEDY Fla. (AP) — A shutterbug Tiros weather satellite is due to be launched Wednesday morning in what will eventually become the world's first full-time long range forecasting network. The hatbox-shaped satellite — to be named ESSA 1 for Environmental Survey Satellite — part of a system that scientists hope will be able to tell you whether you can go to the beach a couple of weeks in advance. Cameras pointing out from opposite sides of the cartwheel rim are to take television pictures of cloud formations and storms. The planned path would put weather every day.

Memorial to Past Is Sewage Plant

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — When officialdom wants to create a memorial to things past, it usually erects a plaque or builds a monument but not the Montgomery Water Works and Sewer Board. The board has decided to name its three new sewage treatment plants after the three long vanished Indian villages on the Alabama River — Towassa, Kulum, and Eonchate. The board supplied no translations. The present city sewage plant is named Catoma, which means shining waters.
